SEVENTH ST. BRIDGE CLOSED — Barricade and pile of earth blocks off Seventh St. bridge in South Stroudsburg as J. H. Minor Tie-Ups Noted In First Day Of New Detour

POLICE in the Stroudsburgs reported little, if any, unnecessary tie-ups as a result of the Stroudsburg Seventh St. Bridge detour which went into effect yesterday morning.

Traffic in the Stroudsburg proper was a little heavier than usual for a Monday, but it was attributed to the snow that began to fall shortly before noon and to Christmas shoppers. East Stroudsburg witnessed no noticeable effects as a result of the detour through its area.

Some heavy vehicles used the Foxtown Hill-Broad St., route as a detour but this was reported as a slight mix-up. Police said that some truckers aren't accustomed to the new detour routes as yet and, as a result, the main thoroughfares were used by the drivers.

Access Is Closed

Access to the Seventh St., will be closed for several months. Work will begin on widening the Seventh St. Bridge to allow proper clearance for four-lane Stroudsburg Thruway which passes beneath the span.

A temporary route for trucks has been set up between Delaware Water Gap and Mount Pocono via Paradise Valley. This will eliminate some heavy traffic through local area.

State Highway

Borough manager Harold E. Snyder reported yesterday that Broad St. (Route 90) is a state highway. This was the reason given as to why the detour is covering only certain streets. He said that state highways are used in detours, but if none exist, then borough streets could be used.

It is still too early to tell what effects the detour will have on the boroughs, an official pointed out yesterday. The one-day operation didn't disclose anything that would constitute a real change in traffic pattern, he remarked.

Man Flight Seen After Successful Capsule Recovery

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An unmanned man-in-space capsule rocketed 135 miles high and was plucked from the Atlantic 235 miles down range Monday, possibly heralding a similar flight by an American astronaut within four months.

All seven men training to be the first Americans into space witnessed the launching, hailed by project authorities as an "unqualified success."

One space candidate, Navy Lt. Scott Carpenter, told newsmen: "I take my hat off to all concerned. This certainly should hasten the day when man can take a similar flight."

Continued success in the Project Mercury program could enable the United States to put the first man in space. Soviet scientists recently encountered difficulty in their manned space program when they failed to return a dog-carrying spaceship from orbit.

The one-ton, bell-shaped Mercury spacecraft thundered away from Cape Canaveral at 11:15 a.m. atop a Redstone Rocket and 16 minutes later plunked on target 90 miles northeast of Grand Bahama Island. Peak speed was 4,000 miles an hour.

A large parachute popped out and eased the capsule into the water only eight miles from the aircraft carrier Valley Forge, flagship of a huge fleet of recovery ships, planes and helicopters.

A Marine helicopter snared it with amazing swiftness at 11:46 a.m. and deposited it on the deck of the Valley Forge at 12:03 p.m. —just 48 minutes after launch.

Rear Adm. F. V. H Hilles, commander of recovery forces, reported the space chamber appeared to be in excellent condition. It will be returned to Cape Canaveral Tuesday for intensive examination to determine how it survived the jolting journey.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration were jubilant. The shot was a crucial one after three straight Mercury launching failures.

But Robert Gilruth, Project Mercury director, cautioned that the success did not indicate an immediate readiness to fire a man into space.

"We need more flights to qualify the over-all reliability and operation of the system," he said.

Gilruth said a chimpanzee may fly in the next capsule tested, probably within two months. If the chimpanzee shot is perfect, one of the astronauts may take the same trip by mid-April.

All 32 Votes

HARRISBURG (AP)—"The tellers agree that there are 32 votes for John F. Kennedy to be President of the United States. . ."

With those words Pennsylvania officially gave its 32 electoral votes to Democrat Kennedy Monday under the Electoral College system.

Electors Make It Official For JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy was elected president of the United States Monday—officially.

There was no revolt of Kennedy electors in Dixie, such as some Southern Democrats had tried to organize.

One elector used his constitutional freedom to ignore the choice of his state's voters. But he took a vote away from Vice President Richard M. Nixon, not from Kennedy.

The electoral college, 537 persons parceled out among the states more or less in proportion to their population, creaked through another election. It turned Kennedy's popular vote of one-tenth of one per cent plurality over Nixon—113,000 votes; difference, the narrowest in 76 years of presidential elections — into a substantial margin of electoral votes, the ones that count.

By the time the various groups of electors had finished their meetings in 49 of the 50 state capitals, the electoral vote stood: Kennedy 300, Nixon 219, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va. 15.

It takes 269 electoral votes to win.

Hawaii Delayed

A hairbreadth election in Hawaii has delayed, possibly until Jan. 6, final determination of the extent of Kennedy's electoral victory.

Nixon appeared to have carried the newest state, and its vote was so certified. But a partial recount put Kennedy 55 votes ahead Saturday. A further recount may be ordered.

If the Hawaiian courts do not settle the issue by Jan. 6, the date for official counting of the electoral vote by Congress in joint session, the lawmakers will have to make a decision. Experts here said Congress could itself rule which set of Hawaiian electoral votes should be accepted, or—since the election outcome is not affected—could simply disregard Hawaii's vote.

An Oklahoma Republican elector gave a fillip to the generally routine electoral proceedings by insisting on casting his vote for Byrd for president and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R.-Ariz., for vice president. Nixon had carried Oklahoma by a large margin, and the state's seven other electors voted for him.

The nonconforming elector, Henry D. Irwin of Bartlesville, had wired electors in other states to join his last-ditch effort to defeat Kennedy in the electoral vote, but in vain.

Fire Engulfs World's Newest, Largest Ship

NEW YORK (AP)—The world's newest, largest aircraft carrier, Constellation, nearing completion at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, was swept by an inferno of raging flames Monday. Forty-seven persons were known dead, and a police official said the toll could exceed 100.

The fire started on the main deck when a small hoisting truck sheared off a plug on a tank of volatile jet aviation fuel. No planes were aboard but the fuel was being used to flush the ship's piping system.

The liquid gushed along the deck and into a well where a welder's torch ignited it. At first there seemed some hope of controlling the flames, but the fire suddenly exploded out of hand and ravaged the sleek, missile-carrying carrier from stem to stern.

The blaze raged out of control from mid-morning until long after dark as firefighters, in a slow and agonizing battle, gradually confined it to narrowing sections of the huge ship.

The report of 47 known dead came from the Navy. Most of the victims were civilian workers aboard the $250-million carrier.

The Navy estimated damage at $75 million. A spokesman said the vessel, 90 percent completed before the fire, would need another year for restoration.

Police placed the number of injured at more than 200. Hospitals in the area were clogged to overflowing with choking, burned survivors.

More ominously, of the 4,200 persons aboard when the fire broke out, an uncounted number were trapped below red-hot deck plating, at the mercy of flames and deadly fumes, their fate uncertain.

The estimate of 100 or more possible deaths came from a police official on the scene. He declined use of his name.

Rescuers fought to get into portions of the carrier's hull whence came muffled poundings from men entombed, but still alive.

"I can't describe it any other way then a living hell," said a burly, 200-pound yard worker after a rescue trip into the bowels of the carrier. "God help those poor souls down there."

Then the man, J. P. McLaughlin, burst into tears.

"It's hell," said another rescue worker, Harry Leed. "It's filled with smoke and the plates on the floor are so damned hot you can't stand still even for a minute without it burning into the soles of your feet."

They described victims they brought out with faces distorted in agony "as if they died trying desperately for one more breath of air."

"We haven't any idea how many people are down there," said Adm. Schuyler Pyne, boss of the Navy Yard. "They keep going down there through the side and bringing people out. We just don't know how many more of them there are."

Some of the casualties were drowning victims, one of them a Navy man. Others were found below decks, their hands clutching their throats in grim testimony of suffocation. One man was overcome by gas as he tried to climb a ladder to freedom. His body was recovered, still in its grotesque ascending position.

Hundreds of survivors owed their lives to a massive rescue operation, launched as they scrambled for safety at the cry, "Leave the ship!"

Many made their way hand-over-hand down ropes and cables —some losing their grip and dropping into icy East River waters, where they were picked up.

Firemen teetering on snow-slippery scaffolding squeezed some workmen through tiny portholes in what Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh called "one of the greatest fire rescues I ever witnessed."

Tugs braved roaring flames and billowing, choking smoke, to pluck others to safety, while huge shore-based cranes dipped down to snatch human cargo from the decks.

Acetylene torches ate holes through the hull of the Constellation well below the fire level to aid rescuers in getting aboard the 60,000-ton carrier.

At one point, as tons of water were poured into her, the Constellation slowly, alarmingly began settling ever so little toward the right. Commissioner Cavanagh threatened to pull back his fire fighters if the list became too pronounced, lest she capsize and trap them.

No War In '61, Sorcerers Say

ROME (AP)—Italy's professional sorcerers have come out of their annual crystal-gazing trance and forecast that 1961 is going to be a fairly good year.

"No world war," they said.

Singly or in combination, they added these predictions:

For Nikita Khrushchev, Charles de Gaulle and Fidel Castro there is going to be plenty of trouble.

President-elect John F. Kennedy will have a whirlwind sort of year, including meetings with Khrushchev.

Progress will continue in the conquest of space and Great Britain will produce a sensational development in this field.

"But nobody," said the sorcerers, "is going to get to the moon in 1961."

All this depends, of course, on whether the star-gazers have the right stuff. In past years they sometimes hit, and just as often missed—sometimes by a mile.

Francesco Waldner, astrologist who correctly forecast the marriage of King Bauduoin in 1960, said the Belgian king and Queen Fabiola will have two children, the first of them in 1961. He also forecast births for Princess Margaret and Actress Sophia Loren.

"There will be no war," said Waldner, "but there will be local conflicts in Latin America. The year will be negative for Khrushchev, Kennedy will be very active and positive, Castro's star will decline."

Rome's "cosmobiologist," Prof. Tommaso Palamidessi, forecast Kennedy "will obtain notable solutions to eliminate the cold war."

Prof. Alberto Fabriani, who calls himself the Sorcer of Rome, agreed there will be no war. He said Kennedy will "be very active and decisive and, taking vast initiatives, will neutralize Khrushchev."

CAIRO (AP) — Yugoslavia and the United Arab Republic climaxed a 10-day state visit of Yugoslav Vice President Edvard Kardelj with a communique Monday denouncing any return of imperialism to the Congo and expressing sympathy for Algerian Nationalist aims. Kardelj then left for Belgrade.

11 Miles FAA Says Of Plane

NEW YORK (AP)—The United Air Lines DC8 jetliner involved in history's worst aviation disaster Friday was 11 miles from where it should have been when it collided with a Trans World Airlines Constellation, the administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency said Monday.

The collision, with the DC8 jetliner falling in Brooklyn and the Constellation on Staten Island, resulted in the deaths of at least 135 persons.

In Washington, Gen. E. P. Quesada, FAA head, said he had advised President Eisenhower that one of two electronic navigation aids aboard the DC8 was out of commission at the time.

However, he said, this should not have caused the plane to stray from its course and it should not have been over Staten Island where the collision occurred.

Meanwhile, Time magazine published recorded conversations between the traffic controller and the TWA pilot.

The magazine said that at 10:35 a.m. an unidentified blip showed up on the LaGuardia controller's radar as he nursed TWA's flight 266 through the falling snow and overcast to a landing.

"Unidentified target approaching you at four miles, 3 o'clock" (a 90-degree angle), Time quoted the controller as saying.

The pilot, David Wollman, acknowledged.

Seconds later, the tower again warned the pilot and again he acknowledged.

Time said the LaGuardia tower checked Idlewild which reported there should be no aircraft in the TWA plane's path. Then the controller watched as the two blips merged and became one.

Quesada and Chairman Whitney Gilliland of the Civil Aeronautics Board met with Eisenhower and White House aides for an hour and 10 minutes to relay an interim report on the investigation of the accident.

Heroic Rescue Jobs Saved Many Lives

NEW YORK (AP) — Survivors and rescuers thought fast and behaved heroically to save countless lives Monday when fire surged through the huge aircraft carrier Constellation.

Eyewitnesses to the tragedy told story after story of men who owed their lives to other men — fellow construction workers, firemen and volunteers.

At some points, rescuers cut through steel to reach men banging on the walls of compartments where they were trapped. A mass rescue resulted when a giant crane was used to lift to safety a platform loaded with men.

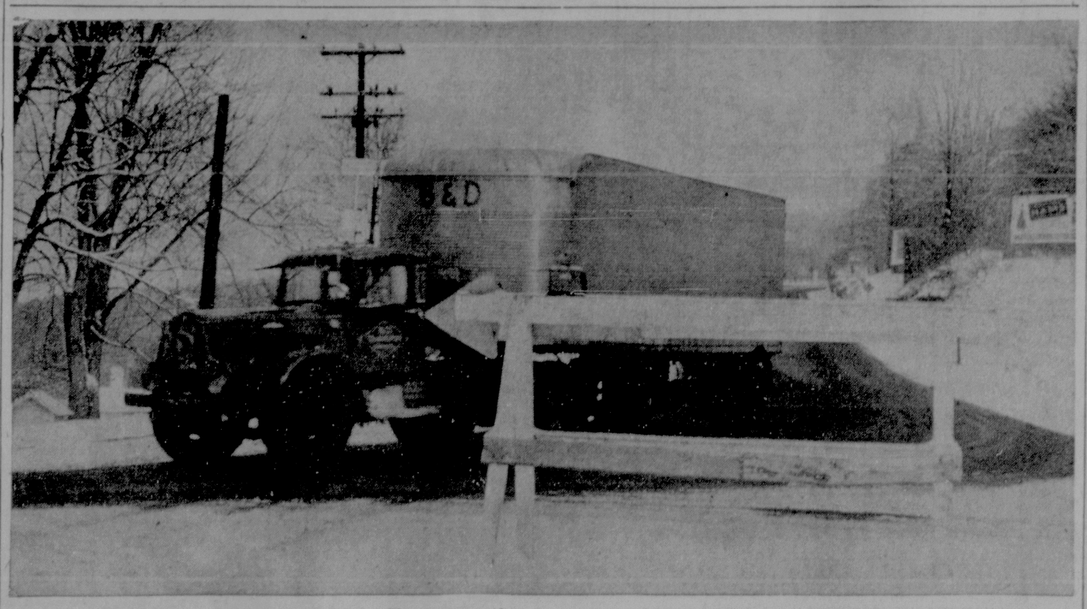
Someone else thought to lower rope ladders that helped many men escape the blaze. Tugs and barges were pulled close to take men off. Firemen plunged into suffocating smoke to drag others to safety, and came out choking themselves—or were carried out.

Matthew Rizzo, 49, told how he and others were warned by their foreman to get off just after a fire alarm sounded.

Dashed For Deck

"We dashed for the upper deck," Rizzo said. "I saw a man out cold, overcome by smoke. We dragged him with us. Then we went over the side, down lines to a barge which was moored alongside the vessel.

"The barge became overloaded until the water rose overdeck and we began to yell. A Navy tug drew alongside and we all climbed on board with it."



NEW DETOUR ESTABLISHED — Tractor-trailer truck swings right into Broad St. at foot of Foxtown Hill as new detour, necessitated by closing of Seventh St. bridge in Stroudsburg, went into effect yesterday. Snow Heavy In Western End Of State

A HEAVY snow fell in western Pennsylvania Monday and then moved eastward across the state, thinning out as it went.

The fall ceased in most areas by late afternoon but was expected to start again in some sections during the night.

The forecast for northwestern Pennsylvania called for a possible accumulation of three to five inches. Scattered snow flurries were expected in the eastern part of the state.

The biggest accumulation was in the Erie area where three inches fell. Greensburg received two inches and Johnstown had between two and three. Several other western Pennsylvania cities, including Pittsburgh, Washington, Butler and New Castle, received about an inch.

Moving eastward, about half an inch fell in Lancaster and about an inch in Lebanon. Snow also hit parts of Delaware County and Philadelphia, but it melted as it hit the ground in Philadelphia.

The snow in eastern suburban areas was enough to put a thin slick on the roads and make driving more difficult than it has been. Driving was reported hazardous in suburban counties.

Philadelphia traffic was a nightmare. Police declared a traffic emergency, saying everyone who kept his car at home last week during and after the big storm must have driven it to town Monday.

Long lines moved like snails in the morning over major highways. It was the same in the evening. Regular commuter traffic was greatly augmented by Christmas shoppers. At times it seemed automobiles were like links of a big traffic sausage that extended from Airport Circle in Camden, N.J., on the east, Upper Darby and Philadelphia's Main Line on the west, Chester and Wilmington on the south and Willow Grove on the north.

21 RR Cars Derailed At Shohola

SHOHOLA, Pa. (AP)—Twenty-seven cars of a 109-car Erie-Lackawanna Railroad freight train were derailed Sunday in this northeastern Pennsylvania community. No one was injured.

A burned brake of the 35th car from the engine apparently caused the derailment, a railroad spokesman said.

Rock Cut

The car piled into a rock cut. More than 800 feet of track was torn up. The train was headed east for Hoboken, N. J.

The spokesman said some passenger and freight trains were temporarily re-routed for Hoboken and Buffalo, N. Y.

Shohola is across the Delaware River from Barryville, N. Y., and 19 miles northwest of Port Jervis, N. Y.

Gas Fumes Overcome 38

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP—A Company official and a chemical operator were asphyxiated and 36 other persons suffered inhalation poisoning Monday from gas fumes at the Hooker Chemical Corp., plant.

Patrick J. Carmody, 42, of nearby Lewiston was overcome while giving first aid to the operator in a small room aa the Fine Chemical Division building.

The operator was Ray F. Shively, 42, of Niagara Falls.

A company spokesman said the fumes resulted from a leak in a 5,000-gallon-capacity vat containing sodium sulphide. On contact with the air, the solution became hydrogen sulphide, a deadly gas.

The vat is located outside the division building, but the fumes seeped through an adjacent wall, the spokesman said.

Carmody, the father of five children, was supervisor of health and industrial relations at Hooker.

The spokesman said Carmody rushed to the building when notified of the leak. He saw Shively staggering from the building and took him to another room to administer first aid.

THE SENIOR National Honor Society and the Guidance Department of the Bangor Area Joint High School, are sponsoring the 5th annual Holiday Homecoming Wednesday at 1:45 in the high school cafeteria.

Freshmen and sophomores at institutes of higher learning are invited to attend this annual affair.

The affair has a dual purpose—to acquaint members of the present senior class with college life, and to give alumni an opportunity to renew acquaintances.

The first part of the program will be in the form of a Career Conference on college life. The second part will be an informal session at which time present seniors may have their specific questions answered on school life.

Representatives of colleges, universities, nursing schools, technical institutes and prep schools will take part in the program.

Officers for the Senior National Honor Society this year are President Kenneth Smith; Vice President Jack Williams; Secretary Gail Williams; Treasurer Earl Van Doren.

Miss Helen Roche is the faculty advisor. Arnold Wynne, Guidance Director, will preside over the formal part of the program.

Monroe Commissioners Air Taxation On Stream Lands

MONROE County Commissioners met yesterday with Limual Kennedy, a representative of the J. L. Jacobs Co., to discuss taxation on land bordering the streams in Monroe County.

At present the land is taxed along with the other land of the owner.

One of the several proposals discussed was the setting up of streams into classifications according to width. The different classifications would have a different rate of tax, it was noted.

Prevention Program

Following the classification, the chief assessor would add one rod 16 and a half feet — on the creek front; translate this figure into acres and deduct that amount of acreage from the owners land in order to prevent taxing same land twice.

The cost per foot on the creek frontage would vary with the classifications. However, no price was established at what the cost would be.

J. L. Jacobs Co. will submit a final plan to cover the problem.

In other business, it was voted to give $4,336.81 to Jackson Township as county aid.

Muddled Market

NEW YORK (AP)—A muddled stock market boiled along in a trendless fashion Monday and closed with the statistics slightly lower.

Brokers said that yearend transactions including tax-loss selling and switching were still prominent and made it difficult for the list to show any persistent direction.

Steels fell as the industry operating rate declined again in view of approaching shutdowns for the holidays. Recession talk was still in the air and the general economic background was dull.

The Dow Jones industrial average dropped 2.22 to 615.56.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell .50 to 219.10 with the industrials off 1.10 and both rails and utilities unchanged.

It was an unusually broad market, the 1,272 issues traded being two less than Friday's. Included were 565 losers and 463 gainers. New highs for the year totaled 36 and new lows 14.

Corporate bonds and U. S. government bonds were mixed. Trading was moderate.

Bond trading totaled $6.02 million par value compared with $5.84 million Friday.

Mummers 'Clipped'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Warrants for the arrest of two South Philadelphia costume makers were issued Monday by captains of three string bands. They claim losing over $14,000 to the makers.

The warrants charge Charles J. Stevens, alias Charles Eder, and Anita Stevens, with obtaining money under false pretenses, fraudulent conversion and conspiracy.

The captains who appeared before Magistrate Elias Myers, parade director for the New Years Day Mummers parade, are Frank Weler, of the Greater Bucks String Band. James Donaghy, South Philadelphia String Band, and David Anderson Jr., of the Woodland String Band.

Anderson told Myers he had given the costume maker $3,800 between Sept. 1 and Nov. 30. Weler said he gave them $5,000 between June 1 and Dec. 4. Donaghy said he gave them $4,500 between Feb. 23 and last Tuesday.

Measuring Progress

Next to "prestige," the expression most bandied about in the presidential election campaign was "gross national product."

Usually referred to as GNP, it is the sum total of goods and services produced by the nation. It is currently running over $500 billion a year.

Actually, however, the dollar total is not an infallible guide to the progress of the country. Look at it this way:

Is the intrinsic value of $3 billion spent annually on cosmetics greater than the $2.5 billion spent on schools?

Is a $2-billion-a-year candy business worth more than a few million dollars given to cancer research?

Gross National Product, as a term, wraps up goods and services pretty well, but it doesn't give us a true picture of either social or economic progress.

Opinions Of Other Editors

'Outsiders' Pose Problem

The pressure that students from other states exert in the competition for openings in Pennsylvania colleges generally escapes attention. But it exists. And from all indications it is growing.

A recent development in New Jersey points to one of the reasons why this is so.

New Jersey, like a number of progressive states, has a substantial college scholarship program going for the benefit of its qualified students. It calls for 2,400 scholarships of $400 apiece.

At the time it was established in July, 1959, New Jersey colleges argued that all of the scholarships should be used within the state. Legislators from South Jersey, where colleges are scarce, urged that some of the scholarships be open to students who wanted to go out of New Jersey for their higher education. A compromise was reached: 85 percent of the scholarships to be used within the state; the rest with no restriction.

The South Jersey legislators kept fighting, however. A senator from Camden County near Philadelphia said that as the program has worked out, so many applications came in for the 15 percent unrestricted scholarships that standards for passing the qualifying tests became extremely high. South Jersey students got caught in the squeeze. Another senator, supporting him, cited figures that might disturb Pennsylvanians. At least 80 percent of the college students in South Jersey, he said, commute to and from institutions in and near Philadelphia. They should have financial help, he argued, to enable them to stay overnight.

As a result the New Jersey Senate passed a bill to permit use of all the 2,400 scholarships each year at approved colleges in any part of the country.

Not only New Jersey but New York and a number of other states in the East have moved in recent years to provide ever greater opportunities for their bright youngsters to get to college. Our State Government has done nothing. It has failed to set up a broad scholarship-loan program, and it has been woefully stingy in its support of low-tuition, public institutions.

Pennsylvania students and their families right now are paying a price for this neglect. And as costs increase, as the number of applicants increases and the pressure from out-of-state students grows greater, the price to Pennsylvanians, in terms of restricted educational opportunities, will soar.

Harrisburg Patriot

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Formation Of Cabinet

President-elect Kennedy has already broken several precedents, the most unusual being the appointment to his Cabinet of two men in critical positions whom he did not know personally and had not even met until he offered them the posts.

His secretary of state, he met only shortly before he announced his appointment, the name coming to him as a non-political nomination, presumably from Dean Acheson who did not seek the post.

He appointed a registered Republican, Robert S. McNamara, president of the Ford Motor Co., secretary of defense, of whom he had not even heard, also upon a non-political recommendation.

Thus far, the Cabinet represents few political pay-offs. Adlai Stevenson is sent as ambassador to the United Nations and there is quite a fanfare about his influence on policy. In fact, too many protestations have been made about Adlai Stevenson's influence on policy.

The entire business seems contrived and can be put down as such until otherwise established. The foreign policy of the United States, as things stand, is likely to be made by John Kennedy, and Adlai Stevenson will have about as much influence as Henry Cabot Lodge had on John Foster Dulles.

The Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt-Mary Lasker-Anna Rosenberg faction in the Democratic Party has not been ignored.

There has been no political pay-off on any of the top Cabinet posts, the President-elect apparently seeking men of competence. The proposal to send Prof. Kenneth Galbraith of Harvard to India is interesting if not amusing.

During the campaign, the Keynesian professor was used by press, radio and television to make profundities and thus the impression arose that whatever he said was out of the horse's mouth.

It was assumed by many that he would sit on the President's right hand and utter the most brazen syllogisms whereupon the country would be shaken to its roots.

The Cabinet appointment of Gov. Abraham Ribicoff, who was Kennedy's floor manager at the Convention, cannot be regarded as a political pay-off. Gov. Ridicoff has proved himself to be one of the ablest governors in the country. His promotion to any post is a national gain. The likelihood that he may eventually go to the United States Supreme Court is a welcome prospect.

What is most interesting about this Cabinet at the moment of writing — when appointments have not yet been completed—is that the President-elect is assembling a non-political Cabinet.

Thus far, he has not appointed one man to top Cabinet level who adds to the political strength of the President except as he made good in the opinion of the American people.

If these appointments do not work out, if these men are incompetent or corrupt, Kennedy will have to let them go fast because, in view of his narrow majority and his lack of strength in Congress, his Administration must start off well. He must accomplish much by the Congressional elections of 1962.

The elements of danger for the new President are in the State and Treasury departments. The State Department requires total reorganization. Its personnel contains too many weak elements, particularly among the career men.

Its operations are too costly for the results obtained. (Ethiopia is an example: we spent $115,000,000 on aid to that country and we face an antagonistic coup d'etat.) The question is who will do this job of reorganization and with what courage.

It is to be remembered that the father, Joseph Kennedy, was a member of the Hoover Commissions on the Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government. He was an active and able member and worked closely with Herbert Hoover. Robert Kennedy once worked for the Hoover Commission.

Also practically every measure introduced in the Congress for implementing the Hoover Commission reports was presented by Sen. John Kennedy and bears his name. Therefore, it is to be assumed that the President is familiar with the weaknesses of the State Department and the urgent need for reorganization.

The same, in a lesser degree, is true of Treasury where bureaucrats have been frozen into fixtures and seem, in their permanency, to be unrelated to the United States. These fellows need to be reminded that their salaries are paid by the American taxpayers who expect them to behave with better understanding of the requirements of the American people.

Social Security Guide

Q. I have been told I should check my social security record every three years. Why is it necessary to check so often?

A. There is a limit to the period within which certain corrections can be made. Generally, your record becomes final after three years. Therefore, if you wait more than three years, your record will be considered final and, except in unusual cases, cannot be corrected.

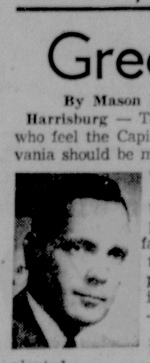
The Pennsylvania Story

Green In Control

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — There are those who feel the Capital of Pennsylvania should be moved to Philadelphia.



To all intents and purposes — insofar as the trend at the present time is concerned — it might just as well be transplanted.

However the chances are good that notwithstanding this feeling — Pennsylvania's official Christmas tree will continue to be erected on the steps of the Capitol right here in Harrisburg for some eons to come; it's simply too much to haul a 75-foot hemlock another 100 miles!

Much of this feeling about transferring Capitol Hill and its heavy squirrel population southeast to the haunts of Ben Franklin stems of course from the simple, unadulterated fact that once again the cycle has changed and it is the political spellbinders from the Quaker City who today are running the show in the Keystone State.

The "Philadelphia era" in which Pennsylvania's "upstaters" now find themselves smogged is nothing new. It was true under the late lamented regimes of such staunch Philadelphia Republicans as Bill Vare and Boies Penrose whose GOP machines of yesteryear decreed when it was time to raise and lower the flag on Capitol Hill here in Harrisburg.

Today the scene is reverting to type — only this time it is the Philadelphia Democratic machine that is calling the shots on the flag raising and lowering, a unique switch at least.

This of course stems from the inescapable fact that Quaker City Democrats in recent years have all but pushed their Republican rivals — lock, stock and ballot box — into the murky waters of the Delaware.

In fact they have pushed so hard under the aegis of one-time World War II infantryman William J. Green — now member of Congress, Philadelphia Democratic chairman and big-wig political what-not — that it is the Philadelphia Democratic organization with its 331,000-vote majority November 8 that now is being credited in some quarters as being the decisive factor in the election of President-elect John F. Kennedy!

Unquestionably Philadelphia's Mr. Green, like his GOP predecessors, has become just about as big a kingpin as possible without being an actual king.

This has been reflected more and more here on Capitol Hill since donkey riders moved into the administration slot some six years ago — but it is being reflected more specifically and more pointedly at the moment.

For example, when Senate Democrats with their even-stephen 25-25 seating tabulation went through their "organization" motions last week, the two top Senate spots went to well recognized Green organization henchmen: the post of Senate President Pro Tempore to Philadelphia Sen. Anthony J. DiSilvestro, and the Democratic floor leadership post to Philadelphia Sen. Charles R. Weiner.

These are the two key posts in the upper chamber insofar as Pennsylvania Democrats are concerned — and when the full-blooded 5-man Senate organizes for the 1961 session there is little doubt that the Philadelphian DiSilvestro will get the post of post of president pro tem inasmuch as the presiding officer of the Senate, Democratic Lt. Gov. John Morgan Davis (also a Green Philadelphian!) will know which way to cast the tie-breaking vote. (The Weiner floor leadership post of course is not up for senatewide contest — that being filled by the Democratic bloc itself.)

The point in this illustration is that Pennsylvania Democrats as a whole today are listening pretty closely to Philadelphia, and at the present rate they will be for some time to come.

And so, while there may be those who feel the Capitol should be moved to the Quaker City — there is still the question of that 75-foot Christmas tree every year!

The Allen-Scott Report

Battles Rules Group

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — President-elect Kennedy, already working on the details of his legislative program, is weighing two plans to cut it through Congress with a maximum of speed and a minimum of opposition.

To accomplish that, he is considering:

Thowing his weight behind Speaker Sam Rayburn to be an ex-officio member of the House Rules Committee with authority to vote on ties. Kennedy's backing, coupled with Rayburn's personal prestige, it is believed would ensure his being named to this powerful committee which controls consideration of legislation by the House.

Late this month convening a meeting of all the Democratic leaders of Congress to outline his legislative proposals and get their views on how best to expedite their enactment.

Seeking assurances from the chairman of the committees that will handle his measures that they will not block their submission to the Senate and House—as happened on major bills in the recent Congress.

The first two of these plans were suggested at a luncheon conference by Rep. William Green, head of the Philadelphia Democratic organization that carried this city for Kennedy by a record breaking majority of 333,000. It was this extraordinary margin that put Pennsylvania and its 32 electoral votes in his column.

Sen. Joseph Clark (D., Pa.), at another conference, urged the third move.

Green stressed the importance of moving quickly and forcefully to prevent the Rules Committee from obstructing Kennedy's program.

"That's the biggest danger facing it," warned Green, who is a member of the influential Committee on Committees. "Once your measures reach the floor, you won't have too much trouble getting the votes for them. I am quite confident every one will be adopted—if you can get a vote on them. That's the rub, and that's why you've got to see to it the Rules Committee can't block that."

"Your ideas on how to go about that sound very good to me," said Kennedy. "You're 100 per cent right about the Rules Committee being the key problem in putting through our legislative program. If we don't solve that promptly, we're pretty sure to have a lot of trouble later on."

Sen. Clark in urging that committee chairmen be asked for advance pledges of cooperation, stated that if they are obtained he would shelve his announced intention to lead a fight to revise the Senate rules to bar unlimited debate—that is, fillibusters.

"I would be willing to do that in the interest of party harmony," said Clark. "But if the committee chairmen balk at committing themselves to expedite your bills, then I see no alternative but to demand a change in Rule 22. It's either that, or you'll have serious trouble getting Senate consideration of your measures. So we might as well have it out at the start of the session."

Sen. Clinton Anderson (D., N.M.), slated to succeed to the chairmanship of the Interior Committee, is prepared to support Clark in such a showdown. Anderson has told Kennedy that.

The President-elect indicated he is anxious to avoid moves likely to disrupt Democratic unity. But he fully agreed with Clark and Anderson that it is crucial to eliminate barriers to prompt consideration by the House and Senate of his legislative program.

"I know unless that's done," said Kennedy, "the Republicans and other opponents will scuttle our bills. And neither the country nor we can stand for that."

• • •

Musical Chairs — Foremost among the Senate committee changes in the forthcoming Congress will be: Sen. Estes Kefauver will attain his long-sought ambition to be a member of the Foreign Relations Committee; Sen. John Sparkman, Ala., will take over the chairmanship of that committee's Far East Subcommittee; Sen. John Stennis, Miss., will become head of the Preparedness Subcommittee; Sen. Pat McNamara, Mich., will assume the chairmanship of the Labor Subcommittee that will handle the long-stymied bill to increase the minimum wage to $1.25; Sen. Frank Church, Idaho, will become chairman of the African Affairs Subcommittee; and Sen. Robert Kerr, Okla., will replace Vice President-elect Lyndon Johnson as head of the potent Aeronautics & Space Committee.

Sen. Albert Gore, Tenn., is seeking support for a move to require the election of members of the Senate Democratic Steering and Policy Committees. Under existing procedure, these influential committees are now named by the Democratic Floor Leader. Gore wants them chosen by the vote of the Democratic caucus.

Sen. Joseph Clark, Pa., is telling colleagues he intends to go through with his plan to demand a secret vote in the Democratic caucus on Sen. Harry Byrd, Va., retaining the chairmanship of the Finance Committee. Clark admits the odds are against him both in the caucus and, even more so, in the Senate where the Republicans would vote on such a proposal. Virtually all of them would support Byrd.

Vice President Nixon has accepted a lucrative offer to write a series of articles on his experiences in the Eisenhower Administration. He may also write a book of memoirs.

Inside You And Yours

Too Many Wombs

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

"Do you mean to tell me I can't have babies because I have too many wombs?" demanded Gina.

"Yes, and that's why you have so much pain, too."

The doctor then explained that Gina suffered from endometriosis — miniature extra wombs scattered inside the lower abdomen.

How does endometriosis begin? Womb lining cells — called "endometrium" — may journey upstream to start new colonies. Or perhaps cells already upstream become hypnotized into thinking they belong in the womb. Nobody knows which.

Every month, from adolescence to change of life, the womb builds a soft, cushioned cradle for any new visitor. If no baby arrives to occupy this berth before birth, it is cast off in the menstrual flow at the end of the month.

Prepare For Baby

The miniature wombs of endometriosis think big and prepare for a full-sized baby each month. When no baby arrives they, too, shed their lining. But gradually they become overfilled storehouses for old prenatal cradles and bulge until they burst.

And so endometriosis rarely troubles women before the early thirties. The extra wombs somehow interfere with their having babies; their prenatal berths go unused. But after fifteen or twenty years without trouble, they begin to ache during that time of the month. Soon tummyaches sharpen into appendicitis-like pains.

Unlike usual difficulties these pains get worse and worse until the flow finally stops. Then, only vague aches remain until it's time again.

Blocks Tract

A miniaturized womb may bulge into the intestinal tract and block it completely during the menstrual swell. Although this blockade resembles a cancer, it clears when the flow stops.

Endometriosis is only as serious as its symptoms. And doctors know how to end them.

Nature's Cure

Change of life is a natural cure. If you aren't troubled much, mild pain killers can help you wait for this natural remedy. But if endometriosis chokes off intestines and smothers you with pain, you can't wait those ten or fifteen years.

Instead of the complicated operation to remove these extra wombs, your doctor may prefer to bring on your change of life immediately.

This change of life can really change your life! Look at Gina, pain-free and happy with her first (adopted) baby!

She's the only woman in town who started a family after the change of life!

Off The Record

By Robert Clark, City Editor

Monroe Tuberculosis Society goes into its final days this week in an effort to secure funds to run the beneficial organization's program for 1961.

Thus far, the campaign for the TB unit has been lagging not only behind last year's figures but also in '58.

Perhaps the tighter grip on pocketboks this year has caused the delay of persons in sending in their contributions to the group which has done ever so much for the people of Monroe as well as the United States.

Let's hope the next five days brings a loosening of the cash pockets and a wave of dollars toward the Monroe TB offices.

Your aid is not only for those who have been hit by the terrible disease but also to yourself via the D-X-ray unit which helps detect the health-killer.

There is no better Christmas gift for you and yours.

We imagine the people of Pen Argyl and Phillipsburg, N. J. are quite disturbed that Jayne Mansfield failed to mention the two areas in her "This Is Your Life" epic on television Sunday night.

Nary a word was said by Jayne or emcee Ralph Edwards that she spent some of her childhood in Pen Argyl and Phillipsburg. There shouldn't have been no dark past here. But the bypass brought thoughts to minds of Slate Belters and Jerseyites.

We sort of got a chuckle out of Edwards' probing, attempting to make Miss Mansfield a Phi Betta Kappa girl despite less than two years of college.

Ralph did mention, though, that Jayne got an "A" in philosphy. Which could mean that she was looking for stardom when going to Texas University and Southern Methodist in those two years of collegiate schooling.

We doubt any professor would have given the well-proportioned woman anything but an "A" no matter what her thoughts on life.

For our money she could have just sat in her seat and said nothing and still come out with the highest mark in the class. After-all eyeing Jayne is a lesson in itself.

John Gebbie and his missus, operators of a South Stroudsburg service station are happy persons today.

Sunday Gebbie and his wife took a ride with their faithful dog, "Pepper." When the two popular Stroudsburg folks decided to change drivers, "Pepper" escaped. The pair didn't notice the canine absence until later after they had driven away.

However, a short time later Gebbie saw his dog running toward their vehicle. Both master and "Pepper" were delighted, with the "lost" canine the happiest when they resumed partnership.

New York Confidential

Another Monday (But I'm the same Mortimer) No sooner did this department start Connie Stevens and Gary Clarke on the altar road than Gary dated Ruta Lee . . . What's with Vicki Dougan of the backless dresses (which is almost ancient history) and Jim Sweeney? . . . The tightly knit Chicago mob (with Murray "The Camel" Humphreys of the old Capone team still calling the signals) absorbed the Tony Accardo fall without a rumble. New No. One man in the operating setup is Sam (Mooney) Giancano, better known to the girls in Las Vegas and on his sassiety sashaying as Sam Flood. Giancano's pretty daughter, Bonnie, married the son of the secretary of Congressman Libonati (D.-Ill.) in a $20,000 ceremony of social signficance at Miami Beach's Fontainebleau last year, where hoods, tough guys and hotel staffers kept the cops and press outside with the rest of the riff raff... Chicago is the only city in the country where gangsters are still loked up to in awe by silly young girls and sillier old businessmen. Apes like the Fischettis and Capone brothers are distinguished citizens and wield immense political influence through the rotten Cook County machine.

Lucille Ball looked just lovely at El Morocco after the "Wildcat" opening, but where was Desi Arnaz? He paid for the party! . . . Bob Evans gets around almost as much as Zsa Zsa is alleged to get around. His latest is Leticia Roman.

And the same old style: For the benefit of those naive children over there who wondered in print about my notation that "insiders" predict cabaret license suspensions will not hold up, I will explain in small words that even eggheads can understand. Many legal experts think the law as now written will not stand in court because the cops are the prosecutors and also the judges, first making the complaints, then passing on them. I am 100 percent in favor of these cabaret fingerprinting laws, but I think the present setup is bad, i.e. requiring artists to go downtown, setting an expiration date on prints which never change, and giving the police the power to act on their own complaints. What a build up for shakedowns.

Which reminds me that Angus Duncan, executive secretary of Actors Equity, testified in a pretrial hearing of the Stork's five-million suit against Equity that he or Equity have no objections to any individual member going to the club. (To testify otherwise would be a violation of the Landrum-Griffin act.) . . . Zsa Zsa wants me to know (from the Coast) that there were not nine other guys during her New York merry-go-round. That the only one she went to Chez Vito with was Bob Straile. Then they went to visit her daughter and his son at their respective schools. Is it that serious, dollink? . . . Advice to chumps: With gals who get mink it's love at fur's sight.

I'm still alive (And Livin'!): Sammy Davis, Jr., proves at the Copacabana that he is the greatest all-around entertainer in the business without an equal in any department. So why does he need the Rat Pack at all? None showed for his opening, at that. Instead of fearing Sinatra, doesn't he realize how devastating his take-off on the Pack's Chairman of the Bored really is? May Britt didn't make the premiere either, but she may be at his side by now . . . I suppose I'm crazy for even talking about tough guys like Joey Gallo and his brothers and I'm getting in deeper when I mention Sonny Franzese, who lives in Long Island and operates principally in Williamsburgh. He is one of the most feared characters in this part of the world, closely allied with the Napolitano boys of Jersey . . . The N. Y. situation is pretty befuddled at the moment and in a state of flux. The best opinion is that Mike Miranda is about as big a boss as there is hereabouts. . . If the James Masons were splitting, they aren't now. There's a reunion of the whole family in New York this week . . .

$13,750 Awarded In Trespass Action

A MONROE County Court jury Friday returned a verdict totaling $13,750 for the plaintiff in a trespass action resulting from the deaths of two persons in an automobile-tractor-trailer accident on Nov. 1, 1958.

The verdict was in favor of Donald W. Evans, administrator of the estate of Joan LeBar Evans, and against Lee B. Koehler, administrator of the estate of Lionel Lester Olson and Norwalk Truck Lines, Inc., of Delaware, and Bruce Stevens.

Killed In Crash

Mrs. Evans, 26, of 738 Main St., Stroudsburg, and Olson, 21, a specialist fourth class stationed at Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot, were killed in the early morning accident on Route 611 near the signal corps depot entrance.

Olson was identified as the driver of the car in which the two were riding. Stevens, 45, of Syracuse, N. Y., was the driver of the tractor-trailer.

The jury awarded $9,000 against the Olson estate on a count of wrongful death and another $4,000 on the survival action, brought on behalf of Mrs. Evans' young daughter, Robin.

$750 On Survival

The award against the truck line and Stevens was for $750 on the survival action.

James R. Marsh represented the plaintiff, while J. Joseph McCluskey and Russell Mervine and Walter Olenick were attorneys for the defendants.

TOM WARING, popular personality of Monroe County, was admitted to Monroe County General Hospital yesterday after suffering a heart attack.

His condition at the hospital last night was listed as "guarded."

Waring, a leader in community affairs for many years after a great career as one half of the famed Waring Pennsylvanians musical organization, had been in good health before suffering the attack.

He resides at Shawnee.

Scott Urges GOP Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, (R-Pa.), said Monday the Republican party should give President-elect John F. Kennedy every chance to implement his program.

"Where we in Congress can support it, we should do so with good heart," Scott said in a newsletter to constituents.

"I do not believe that responsible government comes from bloc manipulation for the sake of obstructionism alone."

He added that wherever Republicans believe the people's interests are not being served they should register their opposition and "do so vigorously."

Scott noted that Vice President Nixon, Republican candidate for president, came very close to election and that Republicans gained a bit in the Senate and substantially in the House.

Jury To Hear Raid Evidence

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Permission was given Monday for a third grand jury to hear evidence against 32 persons arrested in mass numbers and gambling raids here June 30.

Judge Vincent J. Dalton gave permission to Dist. Atty. Robert M. Harris to submit evidence to a new Schuylkill County jury Feb. 20. His order was concurred in by President Judge James J. Curran and by Judges Harold L. Paul and Charles W. Staudenmeier.

Grand juries in October and December ignored charges.

Pennsylvania State Police Commissioner Frank McCartney, in Pottsville to confer with Harris, said, "I am well pleased with the court's action and with the district attorney's action in petitioning for resubmission."

Planned To Kill Kennedy At Mass

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A federal official said Monday a retired postal clerk under arrest for threatening the life of President-elect John F. Kennedy wanted especially to blow him up during a mass in the Palm Beach Catholic Church.

Richard Pavlick, 73, favored this plan because he is violently anti-Catholic, Asst. U. S. Atty. Robert Rust said.

When he was arrested last Thursday in West Palm Beach, Pavlick told newsmen he wanted to kill Kennedy because of "the underhanded way he was elected."

"Kennedy money bought the White House and the presidency," Pavlick said at the time. "I had the crazy idea I wanted to stop Kennedy from being president."

Minister Will Visit Witnesses

STEPHEN F. Bortlik, presiding minister of the East Stroudsburg congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced the semi-annual visit of Charles P. Homolka, circuit minister of Pennsylvania Circuit No. 2.

Homolka, who has served for many years in the circuit work, was recently reassigned to assist the 20 congregations in the Pennsylvania-New Jersey area.

The visit, from Dec. 20-25, is for the purpose of assisting Jehovah's Witnesses locally in their effort to bring their message of peace and hope through door-to-door activity. The visits are made on people of all faiths to encourage more discussion of the Bible and the importance of our times as related to prophecy.

The program will begin Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. with a ministry training school, followed by a 30-minute discourse by Homolka.

Field Service

Wednesday through Sunday will be devoted to field missionary service.

The Saturday evening program begins at 8 o'clock with a Bible question period, "New Things Learned," followed by a 30-minute discourse by Homolka.

Sunday at 3 p.m. Homolka will give a public talk, "Seeking Peace with God and Man." A congregation Bible study using the Watchtower magazine as an aid, and final remarks by Homolka, will end the week's activity.

All meetings will be held at Kingdom Hall, Milford Road, East Stroudsburg.

2 Inches Of Snow Falls Here

APPROXIMATELY two inches of snow fell on Monroe County yesterday, giving a fresh topping to the remains of a nine-inch fall last Sunday and Monday.

The new fall was estimated by a spokesman for the Monroe County office of the State Highways Dept.

The local office had 32 trucks, 13 pickups, four loaders, one shovel, one grader and 68 men on duty, clearing and cindering roads.

Clearing skies and sunshine in the afternoon took temperatures above the freezing point and the resulting melting helped the snow cleanup job.

Light Forecast

The U. S. Weather Bureau in its five-day forecast for today through Saturday calls for one-tenth to six-tenths of an inch of snow, mostly as flurries, during that period.

However, the Weather Bureau station at Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport calls for snow either this afternoon or tonight.

Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg police reported light traffic snarls as the result of the snow.

Stroudsburg police reported traffic disrupted for "a short time" as the result of closing of the Seventh St. bridge and the fact that signs indicating the necessary detour were delayed in being placed. East Stroudsburg police reported one slight tieup.

Police Chief John B. Trethaway said the state was "on the ball" with cindering operations and the storm caused no trouble.

Area State Police estimated the fall at from one-half to three inches in various sections. They reported roads plowed and cindered and said there were no traffic tieups.

State Police at Lehighton reported about one-half inch and said roads were slick in some places, but that cindering operations were proceeding normally.

Roads

Troopers at Milford said about an inch fell there and that roads were cindered. At Pocono Lake, State Police estimated between two and three inches and troopers at Mt. Pocono said about an inch fell there. All said there were no traffic delays and there were no reports of accidents.

Park Project In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A huge park acquistion program that would add 25,000 acres to the state's public lands has been proposed by the New York State Council of Parks.

Sixty-two tracts would be financed under a plan, authorized in a referendum Nov. 8, to issue $75 million in state bonds to buy open land for parks and conservation work.

Most of the land would be added to existing parks but 16 of the purchases would create new parks.

Four Asphyxiated

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—Four persons watching a drive-in movie with their car heater going died of carbon monoxide poisoning Saturday night.

IBW Heater Keeps Sulphur A Liquid

INTERNATIONAL Boiler Works, East Stroudsburg, began working on a project to keep sulphur in a liquid state from the time it comes from the earth until it is delivered to the manufacturer about one year ago.

Today Freeport Sulphur Company uses 10 of the heaters in the mining, transporting and storing material.

The heater is a thermo liquid device of the LaMont Forced recirculation generator type.

The new heater replaces the heating systems that were filled with steam to keep the material in its liquid state. The thermo liquid is pumped through coils in the sulphur tanks, after they have been filled. With the temperature of the thermo liquid remaining between 320 and 340 degrees the sulphur remains a liquid.

Liquified In Well

Sulphur when mined is liquified in the well by steam and the pressure forces it to the top of the well. Prior to IBW's thermo liquid heater the sulphur was stored in piles on the earth to await shipment.

Shortly after being exposed to the air the sulphur returns to its solid form. It was shipped in bulk — big pieces — and much was lost in the handling.

With the present heater the mineral is liquified in the ground, brought to the surface and stored or shipped in heated tanks, still in a liquid state, and delievered to the manufacturer as a liquid.

May Store It

The manufacturer can retain it as a liquid or store it at a temperature that will allow the material to return to a solid state.

Christmas Packages 'Available'

THIS IS the time of the year when most people begin to pull the hair out of their heads, regarding last minute presents and getting out those last Christmas Cards that were forgotten when the original list was made.

With all the hurry here and there it is hard for one to retain their wits 100 per cent.

Saturday night two women found five packages in downtown Stroudsburg and took them to the Control Center at Stroudsburg Municipal Building. They thought that they would be missed and police would be urged to be on the lookout.

Still There

This, however did not happen. The five packages are still at the control center awaiting the owner or owners. Police said last night if anyone lost several packages Saturday night they could have them in time for Christmas if they would call the station and identify the packages.

The packages are wrapped in A. B. Wyckoff paper and contain sales slips. Unfortunately, though, the slips do not give the name of the person or persons making the purchase.

'All Lucky To Be Alive'

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — "We are all lucky to be alive," an Austrian medical orderly said Monday of his 18-hours imprisonment in Bukavu last week with the staff of an Austrian field hospital.

The whole staff, including a labcratory assistant, Miss Gertrud Pieber, 21, was flown to Leopoldville Monday.

Miss Pieber had been rescued from the Congolese by U.N. civil affairs officer Robin Miller, a New Zealander. The others were held in prison until rescued by Nigerian U.N. soldiers after a pitched battle in which several scores of Congolese were reported killed or wounded.

RIDGWAY, Pa. (AP)—Deputy Coroner Stephen Chillian of Elk County said Monday a Pittsburgh woman was dragged some 45 feet after she was fatally shot Saturday on a deer hunting trip.

The body of Mrs. Amelia M. Smith, 44, of Pittsburgh's Castle Shannon area, was found by her husband and two sons. She was hit in the back.

Chillian said the person who shot Mrs. Smith dragged her body and concealed it in some bushes. He estimated the bullet traveled some 130 feet.

The shooting occurred about 15 miles north of Ridgway in Elk County between 4:30; and 4:45 p.m., Saturday, just minutes before the deer season closed, Chillian said.

There was no immediate ruling on the shooting pending further investigation.

Moravians Hold Traditional Lovefeast Christmas Eve

By PAT WILLIAMS
(Last in the series of articles)

THE GREATEST festival of the church year for Moravians, is the beautiful and traditional Candlelight Lovefeast held on Christmas Eve.

It was originally held as a candlelight service in Marienborn, Germany, for the children of the community.

In those days, they were told the Christmas story and given lighted tapers trimmed with red ribbon to signify the wounds and pierced side Christ bore and the blood red flame of love which He had ignited in every heart. The year was 1747.

In America, the candlelight service was used on Christmas Eve in 1756, in Bethlehem. The Lovefeast was added to the services of the Moravian Church in 1727. It has become a means of celebrating great spiritual blessing and brotherly love. It also becomes a part of the celebration of Christmas.

In the Apostolic Church, it was a "breaking of bread together," but did not, nor does it today take the place of, or resemble Communion. The food (usually buns and mugs of beverage) is simple fare, and although to newcomers, a novel idea, a real blassing is experienced.

To a child brought up in a Moravian home, one of the first things associated with Christmas is the "Birthday Party for Baby Jesus."

On Christmas Eve, the whole family goes to the service. The church is fragrant with the greens. Overhead, in the chancel, hangs the glowing Moravian Advent Star.

The senior and junior choirs enter the church singing a carol, joined by the congregation. After they are in their places, the scripture is read, telling of the First Christmas.

During the singing of carols, the Deiners or Sacristan—married couples of the Church — wearing modern adaptations of traditional Moravian costume, bring in baskets of buns wrapped in napkins. After the distribution, hand to hand along the pews, the Deiners return with trays carrying mugs of cocoa and coffee, which are given out in the same fashion. When everyone has been served, grace is sung, and the Lovefeast is eaten. Anthems also are offered by the choirs.

The Sacristans pass among the congregation and take up the mugs, returning to the now dimly lit sanctuary carrying trays of lighted beeswax candles trimmed with colored paper frills. The particular odor of the beeswax is as seasonal as the fragrance of the greens.

The candles are passed along the pews. Children also receive one. Carols are sung during this phase.

When all of the worshippers have a lighted candle, a member of the junior choir wearing a deep blue choir gown, and holding a lighted taper, steps forward to lead the congregation in the singing of the beautiful and moving antiphonal anthem, "Morning Star."

As the child sings over the hush that has fallen, the words, "Morning Star, oh cheering sight," there is a welling up of a feeling that can only be described as joy. The congregation then answers with the words, "Ere thou camest, How dark earth's night." Again the child sings, "Jesus, Mine" with the answer of worshippers, "In me shine." The clear soprano echoes, "In me shine;" and a returning, "Jesus, Mine." Then all join the hymn of love, "Fill my heart with light divine."

With the conclusion of the service, the congregation leaves the Church, having experienced a renewal of the joy and adoration that the Shepherds and the Wisemen felt on that First Christmas Eve. Yet not really so long ago because of the glow of love kindled in each worshipper's heart.

As in all services of the Moravian Church, visitors are welcome. Should you wish to join in the Christmas Festival, the Candlelight Lovefeast will be held in the Canadensis Moravian Church at 7:00 p.m. Christmas Eve.

School District Mergers Sought

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Robert A. Christie, executive director of Gov. David Lawrence's task force on education, says a recommendation will be made to consolidate Pennsylvania's 2,277 school districts into 172 districts.

Dr. Christie told a group of Chester County school supervisors that each new district will have some 10,000 pupils. He said the education committee's proposals, to be made to the governor and the Legislature early next year, will boost educational spending.

Under the proposal, the counties will be given until 1966 to accomplish the reorganization. The state will specify the number of new districts each county should have.

Christie's statement confirmed earlier reports that such recommendations were imminent.

26 Die Of Gunshot Wounds In '60 Hunting Seasons

HARRISBURG (AP) — Twenty-six Pennsylvania hunters died of gunshot wounds during the 1960 small and large game seasons—including nine in the just-closed deer season.

The toll was the highest since 1953, when 34 hunters were shot to death. The deer season total was the highest since 1956, when 11 hunters were killed.

"Frankly, I'm at a loss to explain it," said M. J. Golden, executive director of the Game Commission.

He said a voluntary hunter training program inaugurated three years ago cut the 1959 season fatalities to 17 from an average 24 in the post World War II years.

"Not Bad Shots"

"We were feeling pretty good about it until this," said Golden.

"Apparently," said Golden, "the people doing the shooting are not bad shots. They hit what they aim at. The terrible part is that they mistake humans for game."

"The only answer is to step up our hunter safety program," Golden added.

Golden said some 5,000 volunteer instructors had trained more than 20,000 hunters in the safe handling of firearms and hunting practices during the past three years.

"And of that group not one has been involved in a hunting accident," the director declared. "The overwhelming majority of hunters are safety minded. But there are always a few who are careless or don't give a darn."

In addition to the deer season fatalities, there were 30 persons wounded by guns. Records of the number of wounded in the small game season were incomplete, the Game Commission said.

Last year there were only 17 gunshot fatalities in hunting accidents—five in the deer season. 11 small game hunters, and one non season hunter.

72 in 1931

The greatest number of hunter gunshot fatalities was in 1931, when 72 persons were killed.

However, the commission explained that the figures reflect the fact that hunters were allowed to carry loaded guns in their cars. That practice is now illegal. Formerly it accounted for most of the hunting season deaths.

In addition to the gunshot deaths, upwards of a dozen hunters died of heart seizures or other attacks resulting from over-exertion. The commission does not keep any record of deaths during the hunting seasons attributed to physical failure or to traffic accidents while hunters travel to or from hunting areas.

Missing Hunter Found In Woods

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—A hunter, lost for nearly two days in the mountains north of Somerset, was found Saturday, huddled over a small fire which he had built.

John Bango, 29, of Franklin Borough, near Johnstown, was rushed by ambulance to the nearby Windber Hospital, suffering from exposure and severe frostbite on his hands and feet.

A spokesman at the hospital said Sunday, Bango's condition was critical.

Hungary, Cuba Reach Accord

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Communist Hungary and Cuba signed an agreement Sunday establishing diplomatic relations, Budapest Radio said.

The two countries will exchange ambassadors under the agreement, signed for Cuba's Fidel Castro regime by Cuban National Bank Director Ernesto Che Guevara.

Guevara left Budapest Sunday night to continue a tour of Iron Curtain countries, the radio said.

The Daily Investor

Establishing Tax Loss

By William A. Doyle

Q. If I remember correctly, you once outlined a very simple way for a person to establish a tax loss in a stock that had dipped below the price at which it was purchased and still continue to own the stock. Didn't you say that it is possible to buy an equal number of shares of the same stock, sell the shares purchased previously and thereby establish a tax loss?

By broker says that this would be a wash sale. Can you clarify this?

A. No, I didn't say that. Yes, your broker is right.

There are ways to establish a tax loss for Federal tax purposes, while still "maintaining a position" in a stock.

The one you have in mind works this way. Buy an equal number of shares (thereby doubling the number you own). Wait more than 30 days. Sell the original shares.

Or you can sell the shares you own. Wait more than 30 shares and buy them back again.

You can also sell your shares and immediately buy stocks of another company in the same country. Wait more than 30 days. Sell your new stocks and buy back the shares you originally held.

There are other, more complicated ways. But these should be enough for the average investor.

Q. I have heard the expression "wash sale" quite often

Exactly what is a wash sale?

A. It's the sale and the purchase of the same stock (or some other capital asset) by the same person within a certain period of time.

Look at it this way: One transaction (the purchase) "washes out" the other transaction (the sale) so that no real change in ownership actually takes place.

Q. If I sell some stock at a lower price than I previously paid for that same stock, I "establish a tax loss." Right? How do I go about reporting this on my Federal income tax form?

A. You report it on Schedule D of the income tax form you file for the year in which you sold the stock. On Schedule D, you report your capital gains and your capital losses.

Your losses can be deducted from your gains, reducing your net gains. That means you have smaller gains to report and a smaller tax bill to pay.

If your losses are bigger than your gains, you have a net loss. You can deduct up to $1,000 of your net loss from your other income (salary, etc.) for the year in which you established the loss.

And you can "carry forward" any additional net capital losses as a short-term capital loss for the five following years.

Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.

Boulder Nears Journeys End

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — A boulder which rested on a hillside overlooking Bethlehem when Christ was born is nearing the end of a long journey to Coventry Cathedral. The freighter Norman Prince ferried it from Beirut, Lebanon.

Out of the three-ton stone, a font will be carved, symbolizing the link of the new cathedral with the birthplace of the Christian faith.

The font will rest on a pedestal beneath a great window in the cathedral, rebuilt on the ruins of the medieval church razed by German bombs in World War II.

Dear Abby

Proper Upbringing

Dear Abby: We are trying to raise our 15-year-old daughter right. She has been dating since she was 13. She is very mature for her age (physically) and is very popular with the boys.

We used to allow her to stay out until 11 p.m. on school nights and 1:00 a.m. on week-ends. Her grades started to slip badly, so we changed her curfew to 10 p. m. on school nights and 12:30 a.m. on week-ends. She now has her dates pick her up at 6:30 p.m. Isn't this a little too early? She says if she has to be in at ten she has to get an early start. Do you think this is proper?

PARENTS OF A POPULAR GIRL

Dear Parents: She may be getting an "early start" for a sad finish. I would not permit a high school girl to date at all on school nights. Until her grades improve, midnight is late enough for week-ends. And her date should not call for her until 7:00 p.m. at the earliest.

Dear Abby: My problem is one I have never told anyone about, but I need advice, so I'll be honest with you. I am 39, Abby, but I am passing for 28. I am engaged to marry a fellow who is 26. I am a divorcee but I kept it quiet because divorcees are looked down on in this town. Also, I was raised in one religion but go to another church because I like the people better.

My question is: How much should tell my fiance about myself? If a person likes you for yourself, are age, religion and past important?

SILVER BLONDE

Dear Silver: Age, religion and certainly a divorce are very important to a man who's asked you to marry him. Tell him the truth now because once you are married and those skeletons in your closet start to rattle, they'll drown out the strains of "Home Sweet Home."

Dear Abby: When a girl asks a boy to a girl-ask-boy party, is the girl supposed to make arrangements to have the boy picked up and brought home? I just asked a boy to one of these parties and nobody seems to know how to go about it. We are both 14.

NOT SURE

Dear Not: You have asked him to be your escort. It is up to him to call for you and see you home. If the boy's parents cannot supply the transportation, the girl's parents should assume the responsibility.

For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, care of The Daily Record.

Newspaperman's Services Held

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Funeral services will be held Wednesday for John C. Manning, 51, a Pittsburgh Post-Gazette copy editor. Manning suffered a fatal heart attack Sunday at his news desk. He joined the Post-Gazette last April after the newspaper purchased the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

She Can't Keep Figures Straight

KENIFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Elizabeth Rudel Smith, 49, President-elect John F. Kennedy's choice for treasurer of the United States, was up at 5 a.m. to telephone her daughter who lives in Bedford Village, N.Y.

The daughter, Mrs. Robert W. Gunn, couldn't believe the news.

"Why, mother," she said, "you could never keep a checkbook straight."

Just Between Us — —

One form of "making the punishment fit the crime" might be to make columnists reread their own columns. Of course I really didn't have to follow instructions but the challenge was hard to resist.

A handsome Christmas card read "Just re-read your column of Dec. 1, 1959. Suggest you do the same." It was signed "An Old Schoolmate." So I did. It was neither very good or very bad: something about being reluctant to get into the Christmas spirit, to stir up emotions glossed over by daily routine, to disturb sleeping ghosts.

At least, that's what I think I meant when I wrote it. Re-reading it, I wondered if it had any other meaning for that particular "Old Schoolmate." Did he, or she, also fear to evoke the ghosts of Christmas Past? Or was I being chided because this year I've just been plugging along?

You never know, really, how good the line of communication is with your readers. Sometimes a casual reference can bring comfort that you never knew was there; sometimes your very best effort brings only bewilderment.

"Do you remember that column you wrote about 'weeds,' "? a woman asked me recently. "I was in the hospital and feeling unwanted and unhappy and you wrote about admiring weeds. Nobody wanted them, everybody tried to get rid of them but they grew on just the same while tenderly-nurtured plants turned up their toes and died at the least little thing. Well, I just made up my mind I was going to be a weed, and I got better right away."

Oh it's a challenge—but one I dare not take too seriously or I'd dry up and never write another word. In fact, if I had to read them all over again, I probably wouldn't anyway.

Cookie Cooks Can Shine With These Sweets

Tuck some of these cookies in the holiday boxes you're packing for your family, neighbors and friends. In about an hour you can make five dozen of these confections — sweet with candied pineapple and dates, crunchy with nuts and rolled oats.

Cookie Confections

1½ cups chopped nuts
8 ounces pitted dates (chopped)
4 slices finely-chopped candied pineapple (2 slices red and 2 green)
¾ cup sifted flour
1 cup sugar
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 egg whites

Mix all the ingredients except the egg whites. Beat whites stiff; fold into mixture. With damp hands, if necessary, shape into balls, using about 1 teaspoon of the mixture for each. Place about 1 inch apart on well-buttered cookie sheet. Bake in slow (300 degrees) oven 25 to 30 minutes.

Cool on wire racks. Makes 5-dozen. Cookies may be frozen.

"THAT'S MY BABY" points out Michelle Hitt of Mountainhome while big brother, Brian Hitt, wonders how much. However, these dollies in the window at 581 Main St., Stroudsburg are not for sale. The work of many loving hands, they will be on display until Thursday when they will be distributed by the Salvation Army to gladden the hearts of 150 little girls. That's how many dolls have been dressed by local women. Some of the dolls are provided by the Salvation Army, some contributed by teachers, some by local children. Church groups, mothers of school classes, and other organizations have cooperated in dressing the army of dolls. Mrs. Foster Minnich is coordinator of the annual project.

Elderly Women Are Guests Of Soroptimists

It was difficult to tell who was having more fun, members of the Soroptimist Club or their guests, elderly women of the community, who were honored at a party held at the PP&L Service Center.

Mrs. Betty Noack was chairman of the party which included a full course turkey dinner with all the trimmings. All 15 guests were presented with gifts from the club. Table favors had been made by Cub Scouts.

There was entertainment by the Salvation Army chorus with electric guitar accompaniment. Miss Catherine Reimard president of the Soroptimist Club, shared with the women some of the lighter aspects of her trip to Europe last Summer.

Mrs. Noack was assisted in preparing and decorating by a committee.

Local Student Learns Of Safety Of Husband, Officer In The Ethiopian Army

Pre-Christmas activities in the Stroudsburgs took on a little rosier hue for Mrs. Elizabeth Karorsa when she received word that her husband, an officer in the Ethiopian Army Haile Selassie, was safe in Addis Ababa.

The young woman, a special student at East Stroudsburg State College, has had some anxious moments since the revolt broke out in Addis Ababa last Wednesday while Emperor Haile Selassie was on a state visit to Brazil.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kororsa (MacLeod)

Fragmentary reports first indicated a bloodless coup by the Imperial Palace guard and police to place the Emperor's son on the throne of the King of Kings. Later conflicting reports reported "a massacre" by "traitors" loyal to the Emperor.

Over the weekend, Emperor Haile Selassie returned to the capital in triumph and his forces pressed mop-up operations against the defeated rebels. A communique announced that the revolt had been crushed.

Mrs. Kororsa still has not heard directly from her husband, so she does not know his role in the national crisis or how deeply he was involved.

News of his safety came from the mission board responsible for her presence in this country. After her marriage in 1954, Mrs. Kororsa taught in the schools of Addis Ababa and studied at the university here. An orphan, raised in a Presbyterian mission school in Ethopia, she speaks excellent English.

Under the auspices of the United Presbyterian Church of the USA, she came to this country in September to study American educational methods. After her semester at the local college, she will travel to observe teaching methods in the various schools of this country before returning to Ethiopia, where her role will be to instruct other teachers.

She is living with the freshman girls at the Indian Queen Hotel and has spoken before several church groups.

Altar, Rosary Members Join Mothers Society

The Altar and Rosary Society of St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church became one of a select society of the Christian Mothers' Society at their December meeting held at the church auditorium.

Rev. Didacus Dunn of the Capucian Fathers of Pittsburgh, assistant director of the society, announced that the Christian Mothers movement began in Lille, France, on May 1, 1850, with the object of the education of children by truly Christian mothers. There are now six Archconfraternities in the world: in Paris, Rome, Regensburg, Cracow, Ensidlen, and Pittsburgh. He enrolled each member present and presented them with a medal.

At the business meeting, it was announced that members will offer their Communion on Christmas morning to all shut-ins and members who are ill. The shut-ins will also be remembered with flowers and masses at Christmas time.

It was announced that Mrs. Arthur Henning will replace Mrs. John Brent as membership chairman for Stroudsburg. Mrs. Francis Ashcroft and Mrs. Robert Reidmiller, chairman of ways and means, announced that $40 will be sent to the Sisters of the Poor in Scranton from the denoations made at the meeting.

Mrs. Betty Noack, home economist of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co., spoke on "Things to Do For Christmas" including the making of Christmas candles; a door decoration from gift wrapping paper, and a tray for guests who drop in during the holidays.

The centerpiece of the tea table included fruit and vegetables arranged in greens around a table.

Mrs. Stephen Sobrinski and Mrs. Miles Werkheiser, as co-chairmen of the refreshment committee, had arranged driftwood with white angels; reindeer and Christmas balls; and, on the officers' table, the Nativity scene. A large Christmas tree decorated with lights and tinsel decorated the hall.

Miss Ruth Lewis Anderson Bride Of Pre-Med Student

Miss Ruth Lewis Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ashley Anderson of Beacon Hill Road, Stroudsburg, became the bride of William Thomas Coggeshall, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert James Coggeshall of Rochelle, Ill., on Saturday morning, Dec. 17.

The ceremony was held in Saint James Cathedral, Rockford, Ill., where both the bride and bridegroom are students at Rockford College. Rev. Paul Fry, a former classmate of Rev. John Essef of St. Matthew's parish, East Stroudsburg, officiated. A dispensation was granted by Rev. Harold Durkin, St. Matthew's for the change of parish since the couple will live in Rockford and a further dispensation was granted by Saint James Cathedral for a nuptial mass in the season of Advent.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had as her maid of honor her sisters, Miss Eugenia Anderson, a graduate of Stroud Union High School in 1959, now a student at St. Lawrence University. She was also attended by her younger sister, Carole Anderson, a junior at Stroud Union High School.

Best man was John Gaffney of Rockford, Ill.

The bride's costume was of white cashmere with a violette of rose point lace. She carried gardenias.

Several parties preceded the wedding. Dr. and Mrs. Coggeshall also entertained at a bridal supper at their estate in Rochelle on Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were hosts at the wedding reception and luncheon at Sweden House in Rockford.

Mr. Coggeshall studied in Japan and at Northwestern University and is a senior, majoring in pre-med, at Rockford College.

His bride is a sophomore at Rockford College, the alma mater of her mother, Rosamond Lewis Anderson. She attended St. Matthew's School in East Stroudsburg, and is a graduate of College des Ursulines in Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. William Coggeshall will be at home after Jan. 15 at 1325 Rural St., Rockford.

Ivy Baker Priest Hails Another Woman In Charge Of Nation's Pocketbook

By Martha Cole

Washington (AP) — Ivy Baker Priest is delighted that she's going to turn the national pocketbook over to another woman next Jan. 20.

Mrs. Priest, treasurer of the United States for eight years, said she definitely thought the post should continue in feminine hands.

Why? "Because the average American woman is treasurer of her household, and why shouldn't a woman be treasurer of the United States?"

Elizabeth Rudel Smith, 49, California Democrat, mother of two and grandmother of two, has been named by President-elect John F. Kennedy to be treasurer in his administration.

Mrs. Priest, 55, Utah Republican, mother of three and grandmother of two, appointed by President Eisenhower as treasurer in 1953, already has written congratulations to her successor and an offer of "anything we can do to help her."

"The letter is on the way," Mrs. Priest said in an interview. She invited Mrs. Smith to come to Washington before she takes office and look over the job of being treasurer of the national household.

To the general public, it means putting your signature on all those crisp new bills of U.S. currency. Mrs. Priest recalls that she practiced writing her name at least 100 times before she turned in the signature that now appears on paper money.

Mrs. Priest has not decided what to do after she leaves office.

"Frankly, I've made no plans," she said. "First, I'm going to get a much-needed rest."

Mrs. Priest is no stranger to Monroe County having visited here with her family many times as the guests of David Gothe of Little Pond Farm, Franklin Hill.

Christmas Activities At ES Church

The story of Christmas was given by the children of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Sunday School in song, recitation and tableau on Sunday.

The Junior department opened the program. Taking part were Victor Gromidin, Steven Smith, Gary Huffman, John Hood, Jere Lantz, Gary Hazen, and Ronald Horst, announcer.

A solo, "O Holy Night" was sung by Sue Lynne Edwards, and the following Junior girls gave recitations: Helena Gromidin, Kathy LaBar, Cathy Lewis, Deborah Kanych, Susan Huffman and Lillian Burrows.

The tableau of the Nativity was given by children from the kindergarten and primary departments with Richard Dunning as narrator. A choir of girls provided back ground music: Rebecca Christian, Nancy Cramer, Barbara Jo Lantz, Corinne Pansy, Virginia Peters, Deborah Rine, Jackie Sue Rine, Melissa Simmons, and Dorothy Wingerter.

Taking part in the tableau were Margaret Frisbie as Mary; Mark Kleinle as Joseph; and Carol Morton, Karen Barhight, Nancy Barhight, Carol Kleinle, Jane Peters, Lorianne Randall, Virginia Simmons and Sherrie Chase as angels; and Roger Christian, James Wingerter, Walter Gromidin, Matthew Hood and James Lindsey as shepherds and Douglas Schoonover, Terry Heeter and Michael Hope as Wise Men.

The program was part of many pre-Christmas activities at the church. The annual Christmas party for the entire Sunday School was preceded by a covered dish supper with an over-flow crowd on Wednesday.

A puppet show "Twismas Eve in Tweenice" was given by Baron Reinhart to the delight of the children. Carol singing was led by the superintendent, Gilbert Dunning, with Ernest Michelfelder as accompanist.

The climax of the party was the appearance of Santa Claus who distributed gifts to all the children.

Women Of Moose Party

The secret pal party and lodge meeting of the Women of the Moose will be combined on Wednesday night at 8 at the home of Nina Van Auken, Willow St., East Stroudsburg. Helen Roberts, Evelyn Fox and Ann Divine are cohostesses.

Office Christmas Party Causes Needless Woe

By Anne Heywood

Year in, year out, companies have office Christmas parties, presumably in an effort to raise morale and make everybody happy for the holidays. And year in, year out, I get anguished letters right after the holidays from girls who have made the inevitable mistakes.

Now I've been hearing from girls who have decided that the easiest way out is just not to go to the office party at all.

Pretend To Be Sick

"I'll pretend I have a cold or a broken leg or something," as one young woman put. "I'll never be missed."

But the truth of the matter is that you will be missed. What's more, your absence will be credited to snobbishness, prudishness, lack of esprit de corps, or perhaps just plain bad manners.

Go Cheerfully

Instead, go cheerfully to the office party, secure in the knowledge that you have arranged for a beau, a friend or a second cousin once removed to pick you up an hour after the party starts. This will give you ample time to exchange season's greetings and to make your appearance count.

It goes without saying that you should dress on the day of the Christmas party in a business-as-usual manner. If you arrive at the office so done up that they can't tell you from the Christmas tree, you'll make it look as though you go to so few parties that this is a Big Event in a pathetic life.

As long as you'll be at least an hour at the party, be sure to try to meet those in departments other than your own. At least one desirable end which an office Christmas party can serve is to bring together people who are ordinarily separated by the departmental system.

Inter-departmental socializing is frequently frustrated at office parties because of the natural tendency of personnel to stick to the cliques already flourishing in their own departments. But it may be important to your future to know and to be known by those in more key departments than your own. So don't lose the opportunity to circulate and make a good impression.

Your Absence At Christmas Party Will Stand Out.

(If you would like a pamphlet on "Pointers to Better Personal Relations," send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope in care of this newspaper and I will send it to you.)

Kansas City A's Have New Owner

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Charles Finley, virtually penniless 13 years ago, Monday bought himself a $1,975,000 Christmas present—control of the Kansas City Athletics baseball club.

For six years this suave, prematurely-graying, 42-year-old group insurance baron has been trying to buy a major league club.

Probate Court Judge Robert Dunne Monday approved Finley's bid for 52 per cent of the A's stock left in the estate of the late Arnold Johnson.

Ironically, in 1954 Johnson beat out Finley in bidding for the Philadelphia Athletics.

"I had a 9 a.m. appointment with Connie Mack, (A's owner then) to close the deal," Finley recalled. "Johnson beat me by getting an 8 a.m. appointment."

Finley mushroomed into a multi-millionaire on a plan to sell high income group insurance to doctors. He devised it while recuperating from a 27-month siege with tuberculosis a dozen years ago.

In gaining the majority stock, Finley outbid a Kansas City syndicate by $125,000. Previously, he had gone as high as $5 million in trying to get the Detroit Tigers, Chicago White Sox and the new Los Angeles American League entry.

Court approval of the block of stock is contingent on Finley being accepted by American League club owners. Their vote is to be presented to Judge Dunne within the next 10 days.

"The Kansas City group has a purchase agreement to obtain the remaining 48 per cent of the stock," Finley said. "I would love to own 100 per cent and I would be glad to reimburse them for the minority shares. But if they wish to retain them, that is all right, too.

"There will be no problem in getting league approval and I am not concerned with that. My intentions are to keep the A's permanently in Kansas City and to build for a winning ball club. I will spend any reasonable amount of money to get to the first division.

"I plan to surround myself with the best baseball brains available," continued Finley, who as a youngster was bat boy for the Birmingham (Ala.) Barons and sandlot first baseman.

"At present, no consideration has been given to Parke Carroll as remaining as general manager. Joe Gordon definitely will stay as manager. And Kansas City will not be a farm team for any other club in the league. We'll do business with all of them."

McPeak Hiked To Head Coach

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bill McPeak was promoted to head coach of the Washington Redskins Monday and given the tough job of shaping the tailend club into a championship contender.

McPeak, 34, for the past two years an assistant coach, got the official nod only a day after Mike Nixon was fired as top man and the Redskins ended a season with a single win, nine loses — and two ties.

McPeak received a one-year contract. Terms were not disclosed.

Owner George Preston Marshall—telling newsmen, "I hope he's head coach here for many years"—said the one-year contract was at McPeak's request.

McPeak said he feels, "I can prove myself in a year."

The new field boss for the Redskins has one distinction already—he's the youngest head coach in the league.

In McPeak, the Redskins are their 10th coach in the 24 seasons they have been in Washington as a member of the National Football League.

He inherits from Nixon a team which showed respectably on defense, but couldn't seem to work up any scoring punch behind erratic quarterback Ralph Guglielmi.

With a 4-18-2 record in two seasons under Nixon, the 'Skins seem badly in need of a player overhaul.

It's been 15 years since the team won the Eastern Division title (they took five in all) and 18 years since the Redskins captured the NFL championship.

Despite his relative youth, the balding McPeak has had 12 years in the NFL — nine as a player with the Pittsburgh Steelers. He was an all-pro defensive end several times.

PASS DEFENSE — Los Angeles Chargers back Charlie McNeil slams into Leon Burton of the New York Titans so hard that the pass intended for Burton spurts from his hands during game at Los Angeles. Van Brocklin To Coach?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Inquirer said Monday night Norman Van Brocklin, quarterback of the Philadelphia Eagles, has been offered the job of coach for the Minnesota Vikings —next year's new National Football League club.

Van Brocklin, recent winner of the Jim Thorpe Trophy as outstanding professional football player of the year, laughed at the reports. "It's news to me," he said.

There has been some speculation that Van Brocklin, who has already announced his retirement from the playing ranks, would likely succeed Buck Shaw, present Eagle mentor.

Bradley Is Second

Buckeyes Lead Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

OHIO State is the unanimous choice of a panel of sports writers and sportscasters voting in the weekly Associated Press basketball poll as the No. 1 major college team in the nation.

All of the 36 first place votes went to the Buckeyes who ran their perfect record to 4-0 Saturday by whipping Wichita 93-82 with All-America Jerry Lucas scoring 27 points.

Bradley was an overwhelming pick for the No. 2 spot with 33 second place votes after running its record to 6-0 by downing North Michigan, Nevada and Wisconsin since last week's poll. Bradley has won 12 in a row over a two-year period.

All voting, of course, was based on the results of games played through Saturday, Dec. 17. Six of the leaders were in action Monday night, including Ohio State which played Loyola at Chicago Stadium and Bradley which faced Idaho. Ohio must play Detroit Thursday and Bradley has a Friday date with Cincinnati.

St. Bonaventure moved into third place with six straight by adding Xavier of Ohio and Morehead State to its list of victims. Tom Stith scored 41 against Morehead. After the Bonnies' game with Western Ontario Monday, they are out of action until a holiday tournament in Madison Square Garden next week.

Indiana retained the No. 4 spot by downing Missouri and Nevada. Its only game this week is against Notre Dame Tuesday.

Louisville, winner of the Bluegrass Tournament, ran its record to 8-0 Saturday by whipping Georgetown (Ky.) and advanced to the No. 5 position.

St. John's made Ohio University its fourth victim and moved up a peg to sixth place. The Redmen play Pitt Tuesday and Gonzaga Thursday before going into a holiday tournament next week in which Ohio State also is entered.

Duke, which beat South Carolina and Clemson to make it 5-0 was seventh, followed by Detroit (4-1) which bounced back from a defeat by Purdue to down Nebraska and Auburn (5-0) which won the Birmingham Classic by defeating Virginia Tech and Alabama. Auburn is idle this week.

There was a tie for 10th place between North Carolina (3-2) and North Carolina State (5-1). North Carolina lost to both Kentucky and Kansas State before winning over Kansas while N.C. State lost to Wake Forest but beat Georgia Tech.

The leaders with won-lost records and first place votes in parentheses with points on a 10-9-8 etc., basis (records through games of Saturday):

1.	Ohio State (36) (4-0)	360
2.	Bradley (6-0)	321
3.	St. Bonaventure (6-0)	212
4.	Indiana (4-1)	204
5.	Louisville (8-0)	178
6.	St. John's (4-0)	140
7.	Duke (5-0)	135
8.	Detroit (4-1)	81
9.	Auburn (5-0)	68
10. (tie)	North Carolina (3-2)	39;
	North Carolina State (5-1)	39.

Defer Decision

MELBOURNE (AP)—The Lawn Tennis Association of Australia Monday night deferred decision on what action it should take on the behavior of U.S. Davis Cup players while in Australia.

The association met to consider reports on incidents which occurred during the interzone final between the United States and Italy in Perth Dec. 9-12.

Grab AFL Pass Titles

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Kemp of Los Angeles and Lionel Taylor of Denver captured passing championships of the Professional American Football League—Kemp for throwing and Taylor for catching.

Final statistics announced by the AFL office Monday showed Kemp won the title by one efficiency point — 46 to 45 for Al Dorow of New York. Passing in the AFL is decided on a six-point basis, including the number thrown, completed, had intercepted, etc.

Kemp completed 211 out of 407 for 3018 yards and an average of .518. Taylor won the pass-receiving title with 92 catches for 1,235 yards and 13 touchdowns.

State Boxer Suspended

PITTSBURGH (AP)—State Athletic Commissioner Paul G. Sullivan on Monday suspended a Pittsburgh boxer and his manager on charges they withdrew from a bout shortly before it was to be held.

Jackie Matesic, a lightweight from the city's Lawrenceville section, was suspended two months and his manager, Jimmy Wingo, three months.

Both suspensions were retroactive to Nov. 29, the date Matesic was to meet Danny Livingston of Trenton, N.J., in a bout at the Palisades in nearby McKeesport. Sullivan said Wingo withdrew Matesic from the card in the afternoon, only a few hours before the bout was slated to start.

Pitcher Dies

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Arthur Neukom Nehf, former major league pitching star, died in his home Sunday night of cancer at the age of 68.

Nehf was a mainstay of the pitching staff of the New York Giants when they won four straight National League pennants, 1921-24. He also pitched for the Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati Reds and Boston Braves.

Pair Of Reserves Heighten Eagles NFL Title Hopes

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Coach Buck Shaw said Monday that the showing of second-string quarterback Sonny Jurgensen and reserve back Tim Brown has heightened the Philadelphia Eagles' hopes of beating Green Bay for the National Football League championship.

The two were standouts Sunday as the Eagles closed their regular season with a 38-28 victory over Washington. Jurgensen, only rarely used in relief of Norm Van Brocklin, plated the entire second half. He completed 8 of 11 passes for 196 yards, throwing for two touchdowns, and ably led the Eagles.

Brown, described by Shaw as "the best maneuvering back" the Eagles have, now is assured of plenty of action in the title game here Dec. 26. He caught five passes for 121 yards and scored an end sweep.

The word around the NFL has been to stop Van Brocklin and you stop the Eagles. Shaw said that with knowledge of Jurgensen's ability—displayed also the previous week against the Pittsburgh Steelers — the Eagles can enter the game with confidence that an injury to the Dutchman won't halt their attack.

"I think highly of Jurgensen and I think the team does," said Shaw. "His performances bore out what we thought he could do and should make everyone forget the trouble he had in pre-season exhibitions."

In his years with the Eagles the former Duke ace has been known as the man who holds the ball for field goal and point after touchdown attempts.

Brown, previously used mainly on kickoff returns, has been seeing action along with rookie Ted Dean since the injury that sidelined Clarence Peaks, the Eagles' best runner and backfield blocker.

Dean still is expected to start with Billy Barnes, Tommy McDonald and Van Brocklin in the Eagle backfield.

Nazareth School Board Seeks Answer

IT MAY BE a bit naive or old fashioned to think that school boards are elected to handle school affairs not to see that the boys on its school football team make all-star teams.

The Nazareth School Board voted Thursday night to find out why Blue Eagle halfback Jeff Marsh was not picked on the Harrisburg Patriot's Big 33 Team. Marsh was selected for both Associated Press and United Press International All-State team.

One of the stronger rumors on the football circuit is that Maryland's Tom Nugent will be named head coach of either the Washington Redskins or Philadelphia Eagles.

Redskins owner George Preston Marshall fired Mike Nixon shortly before the Skins dropped their finale to Philadelphia 38-28. Buck Shaw, the Eagle's coach says he will retire after the championship game.

If Nugent does leave Maryland, one of the strongest contenders for his job will probably be Bob Ward, the Terps All-America guard in 1950, who is an Oklahoma assistant coach now.

TD Club Had Good Night Despite Bednarik

The Pocono Touchdown Club had a fairly successful "Night of Football," at the Elks Club Monday, despite the absences of the Philadelphia Eagles Chuck Bednarik.

Bednarik decided the snow was to deep to get to the Poconos, which is an acceptable excuse. It would have been much more acceptable if Bednarik had told the club he was not coming.

In the old days, BEC, (Before Eastern Championship) the Eagles unloaded publicity on every newspaper that had a mailbox.

But a request for a picture of Bednarik and a brief story on the Penn graduate has gone unanswered by the Eagles publicity office for two weeks.

East Stroudsburg State College's football team finished in the top 30 in three team categories of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics and the Warriors Bob Gross was 23 in the country in punting with a 39.5 average on 11 kicks.

Gross and his teammate Bill Lewis each got off a 65 yard kick this year. Gross' was against Millersville in the opener and Lewis' effort game against Bloomsburg.

Warriors Were Eighth In Rush Defense

East Stroudsburg was eighth in the nation in team rushing defense, allowing nine opponents an average of 76.7 yards a game. West Chester was first with a 41.0 mark.

The Warriors were 25 in total defense and 29 in team rushing offense. The Warriors averaged 230 yards a game on the ground.

Some 26,900 people saw East Stroudsburg play this year including 7,400 for the West Chester game.

Ten Warriors were responsible for individual 1960 season football records. Frank Lupin gained the most yards in one game, 135 against Cheyney, while Bill Race's 20 carries against Millersville and Cortland were also a team high.

Lewis Led East Stroudsburg Passers

Bill Lewis attempted the most passes 21 and completed the most 11 against West Chester and Joe Heverin caught six of them in that game.

The longest touchdown pass was a 45 yard toss from Lewis to Toby Barkamn. The longest run from scrimmage was credited to Henry Mowery, 58-yards against Kutztown and Don Schleicher's 57-yard punt return against Cheyney was another season high.

Mowery returned the opening kickoff in the Mansfield game 77 yards, a return high.

Lewis and Gross shared the longest punt and Dick Wolslayer turned in the most individual tackles, 20 against West Chester.

Shaw, Lombardi To Coach Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Green Bay Packers' Vince Lombardi has been named head coach of the Western Conference squad for the Pro Bowl game at the Coliseum Jan. 15.

Buck Shaw of the Philadelphia Eagles will coach the East.

Paul J. Schissler, Pro Bowl managing director, announced Lombardi's appointment following the Packers' 35-21 win over the Los Angeles Rams Saturday. The win put them on top of the Western Division with an 8-4 record.

By FRANCIS DRAKE

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1960

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — This day will respond more to conservative tendencies and measures than all-out action in activities. It will be a relief, perhaps, to be able to take things calmly and be able to THINK.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Be concerned with projects and propositions of a general nature rather than spend most time with purely personal issues. Familiar matters, your occupation interests and household duties can achieve.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Caution should be maintained in all important propositions, especially if contracts, promises, bids and estimates are involved. If you think before acting or speaking all should go well.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Mild influences to start with but they become stronger and better and after Sundown, you have auspicious vibrations for private and business matters. Be patient, plan wisely and thus save time.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Some friendly influences linger since yesterday. Much will depend upon you, however, and the schedule you plan and put into practice. Heed wise suggestions, make use of available opportunities.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) —Caution and reasonable desires should take care of day's advantages and possible restraints. Day's interests can be helped by study, examination and analysis of duties, etc.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—A sensible distribution of tasks, where they should be attended to, and advice to those allotted to handle them will help whole day's accomplishment and returns. Don't worry, just carry on.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Discretion, patience, understanding are requisites today. Don't fear work, difficult propositions. Take them as part of civilized living; try to resolve them, the reward will be pleasant.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — You may have to supply added initiative and enthusiasm today so be prepared and be cheerful. Serenity always a help in accomplishing anything. Also avoid becoming overtired or too anxious.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Saturn going to an auspicious position after Sundown. Plan and work today but not to overtire, get things set for a more strenous day of activity tomorrow. Important matters first!

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Listen to dictates of your experience and to advice of those qualified to give it, in weighty propositions, where several lines of procedure can be used. You want the best, of course.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) —Mildly favorable vibrations since yesterday's benefic Neptune aspect. Don't plan an extensive program but do aim to get today's needs covered. You can achieve all along the line.

YOU BORN TODAY: Sincere, likeable, industrious, versatile but can be obstinate. You have many attributes that should be developed and used to further your and your family's interests. Study your inner self, recognize where you need changes, betterment and make these improvements. Also curb tendencies that could be detrimental to your happiness and success. Smile often, don't worry needlessly and keep health fit by being calm and reasonable. You can advance in a science, in an artistic profession or as a surgeon, dentist; make a skilled mechanic. Birthdate: Many noted architects, builders, actors.

Girl, 4, Chases Santa Down Flue

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Kathy Montanaro, 4, "saw" Santa Claus. So, like Alice in Wonderland, she chased him down a hole.

The trouble was that the hole, a heating flue, was real. Kathy became stuck, nine feet down, and it took a squad of firemen to get her out.

Kathy was in a second floor bedroom of her home Saturday when she pushed a covering from a brick heating flue, 15-by-18 inches.

"I was looking for Santa Claus," she said later. "I think I saw the top of his hat. So I went after him."

The firemen carefully broke away bricks above Kathy's head, then lifted her through the gap they had made.

Kathy, though covered with soot, was none the worse for her adventure. She was only sorry that Santa, like Alice's rabbit, was so elusive.

Musmanno May Attend Trial

The Eichmann trial is set for next March.

Proposes Pact In Germany

BERLIN (AP)—Walter Ulbricht, East Germany's chief of state, proposed in a speech published Sunday that his Communist nation and West Germany sign a 10-year peace pact.

Ulbricht appealed to President-elect John F. Kennedy for support of the plan, saying it would "help to get rid of the remnants of war and above all to get rid of such sources of conflict in Germany as could lead to an outbreak of war."

The Red leader suggested that, during the 10-year period, both German states renounce the use of force, cease making war propaganda and stop rearming.

SEVENTH ST. BRIDGE CLOSED — Barricade and pile of earth blocks off Seventh St. bridge in South Stroudsburg as J. H. Minor Tie-Ups Noted In First Day Of New Detour

POLICE in the Stroudsburgs reported little, if any, unnecessary tie-ups as a result of the Stroudsburg Seventh St. Bridge detour which went into effect yesterday morning.

Traffic in the Stroudsburg proper was a little heavier than usual for a Monday, but it was attributed to the snow that began to fall shortly before noon and to Christmas shoppers. East Stroudsburg witnessed no noticeable effects as a result of the detour through its area.

Some heavy vehicles used the Foxtown Hill-Broad St., route as a detour but this was reported as a slight mix-up. Police said that some truckers aren't accustomed to the new detour routes as yet and, as a result, the main thoroughfares were used by the drivers.

Access Is Closed

Access to the Seventh St., will be closed for several months. Work will begin on widening the Seventh St. Bridge to allow proper clearance for four-lane Stroudsburg Thruway which passes beneath the span.

A temporary route for trucks has been set up between Delaware Water Gap and Mount Pocono via Paradise Valley. This will eliminate some heavy traffic through local area.

State Highway

Borough manager Harold E. Snyder reported yesterday that Broad St. (Route 90) is a state highway. This was the reason given as to why the detour is covering only certain streets. He said that state highways are used in detours, but if none exist, then borough streets could be used.

It is still too early to tell what effects the detour will have on the boroughs, an official pointed out yesterday. The one-day operation didn't disclose anything that would constitute a real change in traffic pattern, he remarked.

Man Flight Seen After Successful Capsule Recovery

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —An unmanned man-in-space capsule rocketed 135 miles high and was plucked from the Atlantic 235 miles down range Monday, possibly heralding a similar flight by an American astronaut within four months.

All seven men training to be the first Americans into space witnessed the launching, hailed by project authorities as an "unqualified success."

One space candidate, Navy Lt. Scott Carpenter, told newsmen: "I take my hat off to all concerned. This certainly should hasten the day when man can take a similar flight."

Continued success in the Project Mercury program could enable the United States to put the first man in space. Soviet scientists recently encountered difficulty in their manned space program when they failed to return a dog-carrying spaceship from orbit.

The one-ton, bell-shaped Mercury spacecraft thundered away from Cape Canaveral at 11:15 a.m. atop a Redstone Rocket and 16 minutes later plunked on target 90 miles northeast of Grand Bahama Island. Peak speed was 4,000 miles an hour.

A large parachute popped out and eased the capsule into the water only eight miles from the aircraft carrier Valley Forge, flagship of a huge fleet of recovery ships, planes and helicopters.

A Marine helicopter snared it with amazing swiftness at 11:46 a.m. and deposited it on the deck of the Valley Forge at 12:03 p.m. —just 48 minutes after launch.

Rear Adm. F. V. H Hilles, commander of recovery forces, reported the space chamber appeared to be in excellent condition. It will be returned to Cape Canaveral Tuesday for intensive examination to determine how it survived the jolting journey.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration were jubilant. The shot was a crucial one after three straight Mercury launching failures.

But Robert Gilruth, Project Mercury director, cautioned that the success did not indicate an immediate readiness to fire a man into space.

"We need more flights to qualify the over-all reliability and operation of the system," he said.

Gilruth said a chimpanzee may fly in the next capsule tested, probably within two months. If the chimpanzee shot is perfect, one of the astronauts may take the same trip by mid-April.

Aircraft Carrier Deaths Reach 47 Fear That Toll May Exceed 100

Fire Engulfs World's Newest, Largest Ship

NEW YORK (AP)—The world's newest, largest aircraft carrier, Constellation, nearing completion at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, was swept by an inferno of raging flames Monday. Forty-seven persons were known dead, and a police official said the toll could exceed 100.

The fire started on the main deck when a small hoisting truck sheared off a plug on a tank of volatile jet aviation fuel. No planes were aboard but the fuel was being used to flush the ship's piping system.

The liquid gushed along the deck and into a well where a welder's torch ignited it. At first there seemed some hope of controlling the flames, but the fire suddenly exploded out of hand and ravaged the sleek, missile-carrying carrier from stem to stern.

The blaze raged out of control from mid-morning until long after dark as firefighters, in a slow and agonizing battle, gradually confined it to narrowing sections of the huge ship.

The report of 47 known dead came from the Navy. Most of the victims were civilian workers aboard the $250-million carrier.

The Navy estimated damage at $75 million. A spokesman said the vessel, 90 percent completed before the fire, would need another year for restoration.

Police placed the number of injured at more than 200. Hospitals in the area were clogged to overflowing with choking, burned survivors.

More ominously, of the 4,200 persons aboard when the fire broke out, an uncounted number were trapped below red-hot deck plating, at the mercy of flames and deadly fumes, their fate uncertain.

The estimate of 100 or more possible deaths came from a police official on the scene. He declined use of his name.

Rescuers fought to get into portions of the carrier's hull whence came muffled poundings from men entombed, but still alive.

"I can't describe it any other way then a living hell," said a burly, 200-pound yard worker after a rescue trip into the bowels of the carrier. "God help those poor souls down there."

Then the man, J. P. McLaughlin, burst into tears.

"It's hell," said another rescue worker, Harry Leed. "It's filled with smoke and the plates on the floor are so damned hot you can't stand still even for a minute without it burning into the soles of your feet."

They described victims they brought out with faces distorted in agony "as if they died trying desperately for one more breath of air."

"We haven't any idea how many people are down there," said Adm. Schuyler Pyne, boss of the Navy Yard. "They keep going down there through the side and bringing people out. We just don't know how many more of them there are."

Some of the casualties were drowning victims, one of them a Navy man. Others were found below decks, their hands clutching their throats in grim testimony of suffocation. One man was overcome by gas as he tried to climb a ladder to freedom. His body was recovered, still in its grotesque ascending position.

Hundreds of survivors owed their lives to a massive rescue operation, launched as they scrambled for safety at the cry, "Leave the ship!"

Many made their way hand-over-hand down ropes and cables —some losing their grip and dropping into icy East River waters, where they were picked up.

Firemen teetering on snow-slippery scaffolding squeezed some workmen through tiny portholes in what Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh called "one of the greatest fire rescues I ever witnessed."

Tugs braved roaring flames and billowing, choking smoke, to pluck others to safety, while huge shore-based cranes dipped down to snatch human cargo from the decks.

Acetylene torches ate holes through the hull of the Constellation well below the fire level to aid rescuers in getting aboard the 60,000-ton carrier.

At one point, as tons of water were poured into her, the Constellation slowly, alarmingly began settling ever so little toward the right. Commissioner Cavanagh threatened to pull back his fire fighters if the list became too pronounced, lest she capsize and trap them.

11 Miles FAA Says Of Plane

NEW YORK (AP)—The United Air Lines DC8 jetliner involved in history's worst aviation disaster Friday was 11 miles from where it should have been when it collided with a Trans World Airlines Constellation, the administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency said Monday.

The collision, with the DC8 jetliner falling in Brooklyn and the Constellation on Staten Island, resulted in the deaths of at least 135 persons.

In Washington, Gen. E. P. Quesada, FAA head, said he had advised President Eisenhower that one of two electronic navigation aids aboard the DC8 was out of commission at the time.

However, he said, this should not have caused the plane to stray from its course and it should not have been over Staten Island where the collision occurred.

Meanwhile, Time magazine published recorded conversations between the traffic controller and the TWA pilot.

The magazine said that at 10:35 a.m. an unidentified blip showed up on the LaGuardia controller's radar as he nursed TWA's flight 266 through the falling snow and overcast to a landing.

"Unidentified target approaching you at four miles, 3 o'clock" (a 90-degree angle), Time quoted the controller as saying.

The pilot, David Wollman, acknowledged.

Seconds later, the tower again warned the pilot and again he acknowledged.

Time said the LaGuardia tower checked Idlewild which reported there should be no aircraft in the TWA plane's path. Then the controller watched as the two blips merged and became one.

Quesada and Chairman Whitney Gilliland of the Civil Aeronautics Board met with Eisenhower and White House aides for an hour and 10 minutes to relay an interim report on the investigation of the accident.

No War In '61, Sorcerers Say

ROME (AP)—Italy's professional sorcerers have come out of their annual crystal-gazing trance and forecast that 1961 is going to be a fairly good year.

"No world war," they said.

Singly or in combination, they added these predictions:

For Nikita Khrushchev, Charles de Gaulle and Fidel Castro there is going to be plenty of trouble.

President-elect John F. Kennedy will have a whirlwind sort of year, including meetings with Khrushchev.

Progress will continue in the conquest of space and Great Britain will produce a sensational development in this field.

"But nobody," said the sorcerers, "is going to get to the moon in 1961."

All this depends, of course, on whether the star-gazers have the right stuff. In past years they sometimes hit, and just as often missed—sometimes by a mile.

Francesco Waldner, astrologist who correctly forecast the marriage of King Bauduoin in 1960, said the Belgian king and Queen Fabiola will have two children, the first of them in 1961. He also forecast births for Princess Margaret and Actress Sophia Loren.

"There will be no war," said Waldner, "but there will be local conflicts in Latin America. The year will be negative for Khrushchev, Kennedy will be very active and positive, Castro's star will decline."

Rome's "cosmobiologist," Prof. Tommaso Palamidessi, forecast Kennedy "will obtain notable solutions to eliminate the cold war."

Prof. Alberto Fabriani, who calls himself the Sorcer of Rome, agreed there will be no war. He said Kennedy will "be very active and decisive and, taking vast initiatives, will neutralize Khrushchev."

Arabs Climax Visit

CAIRO (AP) — Yugoslavia and the United Arab Republic climaxed a 10-day state visit of Yugoslav Vice President Edvard Kardelj with a communique Monday denouncing any return of imperialism to the Congo and expressing sympathy for Algerian Nationalist aims. Kardelj then left for Belgrade.

Electors Make It Official For JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy was elected president of the United States Monday—officially.

There was no revolt of Kennedy electors in Dixie, such as some Southern Democrats had tried to organize.

One elector used his constitutional freedom to ignore the choice of his state's voters. But he took a vote away from Vice President Richard M. Nixon, not from Kennedy.

The electoral college, 537 persons parceled out among the states more or less in proportion to their population, creaked through another election. It turned Kennedy's popular vote of one-tenth of one per cent plurality over Nixon—113,000 votes; difference, the narrowest in 76 years of presidential elections — into a substantial margin of electoral votes, the ones that count.

By the time the various groups of electors had finished their meetings in 49 of the 50 state capitals, the electoral vote stood: Kennedy 300, Nixon 219, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va. 15.

It takes 269 electoral votes to win.

Hawaii Delayed

A hairbreadth election in Hawaii has delayed, possibly until Jan. 6, final determination of the extent of Kennedy's electoral victory.

Nixon appeared to have carried the newest state, and its vote was so certified. But a partial recount put Kennedy 55 votes ahead Saturday. A further recount may be ordered.

If the Hawaiian courts do not settle the issue by Jan. 6, the date for official counting of the electoral vote by Congress in joint session, the lawmakers will have to make a decision. Experts here said Congress could itself rule which set of Hawaiian electoral votes should be accepted, or—since the election outcome is not affected—could simply disregard Hawaii's vote.

An Oklahoma Republican elector gave a fillip to the generally routine electoral proceedings by insisting on casting his vote for Byrd for president and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R.-Ariz., for vice president. Nixon had carried Oklahoma by a large margin, and the state's seven other electors voted for him.

The nonconforming elector, Henry D. Irwin of Bartlesville, had wired electors in other states to join his last-ditch effort to defeat Kennedy in the electoral vote, but in vain.

Heroic Rescue Jobs Saved Many Lives

NEW YORK (AP) — Survivors and rescuers thought fast and behaved heroically to save countless lives Monday when fire surged through the huge aircraft carrier Constellation.

Eyewitnesses to the tragedy told story after story of men who owed their lives to other men — fellow construction workers, firemen and volunteers.

At some points, rescuers cut through steel to reach men banging on the walls of compartments where they were trapped. A mass rescue resulted when a giant crane was used to lift to safety a platform loaded with men.

Someone else thought to lower rope ladders that helped many men escape the blaze. Tugs and barges were pulled close to take men off. Firemen plunged into suffocating smoke to drag others to safety, and came out choking themselves—or were carried out.

Matthew Rizzo, 49, told how he and others were warned by their foreman to get off just after a fire alarm sounded.

Dashed For Deck

"We dashed for the upper deck," Rizzo said. "I saw a man out cold, overcome by smoke. We dragged him with us. Then we went over the side, down lines to a barge which was moored alongside the vessel.

"The barge became overloaded until the water rose overdeck and we began to yell. A Navy tug drew alongside and we all climbed on board with it."

Good Morning!

Snow Heavy In Western End Of State

A HEAVY snow fell in western Pennsylvania Monday and then moved eastward across the state, thinning out as it went.

The fall ceased in most areas by late afternoon but was expected to start again in some sections during the night.

The forecast for northwestern Pennsylvania called for a possible accumulation of three to five inches. Scattered snow flurries were expected in the eastern part of the state.

The biggest accumulation was in the Erie area where three inches fell. Greensburg received two inches and Johnstown had between two and three. Several other western Pennsylvania cities, including Pittsburgh, Washington, Butler and New Castle, received about an inch.

Moving eastward, about half an inch fell in Lancaster and about an inch in Lebanon. Snow also hit parts of Delaware County and Philadelphia, but it melted as it hit the ground in Philadelphia.

The snow in eastern suburban areas was enough to put a thin slick on the roads and make driving more difficult than it has been. Driving was reported hazardous in suburban counties.

Philadelphia traffic was a nightmare. Police declared a traffic emergency, saying everyone who kept his car at home last week during and after the big storm must have driven it to town Monday.

Long lines moved like snails in the morning over major highways. It was the same in the evening. Regular commuter traffic was greatly augmented by Christmas shoppers. At times it seemed automobiles were like links of a big traffic sausage that extended from Airport Circle in Camden, N.J., on the east, Upper Darby and Philadelphia's Main Line on the west, Chester and Wilmington on the south and North Grove on the north.

21 RR Cars Derailed At Shohola

SHOHOLA, Pa. (AP)—Twenty-seven cars of a 109-car Erie-Lackawanna Railroad freight train were derailed Sunday in this northeastern Pennsylvania community. No one was injured.

A burned brake of the 35th car from the engine apparently caused the derailment, a railroad spokesman said.

Rock Cut

The car piled into a rock cut. More than 800 feet of track was torn up. The train was headed east for Hoboken, N. J.

The spokesman said some passenger and freight trains were temporarily re-routed for Hoboken and Buffalo, N. Y.

Shohola is across the Delaware River from Barryville, N. Y., and 19 miles northwest of Port Jervis, N. Y.

Gas Fumes Overcome 38

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP—A Company official and a chemical operator were asphyxiated and 36 other persons suffered inhalation poisoning Monday from gas fumes at the Hooker Chemical Corp., plant.

Patrick J. Carmody, 42, of nearby Lewiston was overcome while giving first aid to the operator in a small room aa the Fine Chemical Division building.

The operator was Ray F. Shively, 42, of Niagara Falls.

A company spokesman said the fumes resulted from a leak in a 5,000-gallon-capacity vat containing sodium sulphide. On contact with the air, the solution became hydrogen sulphide, a deadly gas.

The vat is located outside the division building, but the fumes seeped through an adjacent wall, the spokesman said.

Carmody, the father of five children, was supervisor of health and industrial relations at Hooker.

The spokesman said Carmody rushed to the building when notified of the leak. He saw Shively staggering from the building and took him to another room to administer first aid.

Monroe Commissioners Air Taxation On Stream Lands

MONROE County Commissioners met yesterday with Limual Kennedy, a representative of the J. L. Jacobs Co., to discuss taxation on land bordering the streams in Monroe County.

At present the land is taxed along with the other land of the owner.

One of the several proposals discussed was the setting up of streams into classifications according to width. The different classifications would have a different rate of tax, it was noted.

Prevention Program

Following the classification, the chief assessor would add one rod 16 and a half feet — on the creek front; translate this figure into acres and deduct that amount of acreage from the owners land in order to prevent taxing same land twice.

The cost per foot on the creek frontage would vary with the classifications. However, no price was established at what the cost would be.

J. L. Jacobs Co. will submit a final plan to cover the problem.

In other business, it was voted to give $4,336.81 to Jackson Township as county aid.

Muddled Market

NEW YORK (AP)—A muddled stock market boiled along in a trendless fashion Monday and closed with the statistics slightly lower.

Brokers said that yearend transactions including tax-loss selling and switching were still prominent and made it difficult for the list to show any persistent direction.

Steels fell as the industry operating rate declined again in view of approaching shutdowns for the holidays. Recession talk was still in the air and the general economic background was dull.

The Dow Jones industrial average dropped 2.22 to 615.56.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell .50 to 219.10 with the industrials off 1.10 and both rails and utilities unchanged.

It was an unusually broad market, the 1,272 issues traded being two less than Friday's. Included were 565 losers and 463 gainers. New highs for the year totaled 36 and new lows 14.

Corporate bonds and U. S. government bonds were mixed. Trading was moderate.

Bond trading totaled $6.02 million par value compared with $5.84 million Friday.

Mummers 'Clipped'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Warrants for the arrest of two South Philadelphia costume makers were issued Monday by captains of three string bands. They claim losing over $14,000 to the makers.

The warrants charge Charles J. Stevens, alias Charles Eder, and Anita Stevens, with obtaining money under false pretenses, fraudulent conversion and conspiracy.

The captains who appeared before Magistrate Elias Myers, parade director for the New Years Day Mummers parade, are Frank Weler, of the Greater Bucks String Band. James Donaghy, South Philadelphia String Band, and David Anderson Jr., of the Woodland String Band.

Anderson told Myers he had given the costume maker $3,800 between Sept. 1 and Nov. 30. Weler said he gave them $5,000 between June 1 and Dec. 4. Donaghy said he gave them $4,500 between Feb. 23 and last Tuesday.

Measuring Progress

Next to "prestige," the expression most bandied about in the presidential election campaign was "gross national product."

Usually referred to as GNP, it is the sum total of goods and services produced by the nation. It is currently running over $500 billion a year.

Actually, however, the dollar total is not an infallible guide to the progress of the country. Look at it this way:

Is the intrinsic value of $3 billion spent annually on cosmetics greater than the $2.5 billion spent on schools?

Is a $2-billion-a-year candy business worth more than a few million dollars given to cancer research?

Gross National Product, as a term, wraps up goods and services pretty well, but it doesn't give us a true picture of either social or economic progress.

Opinions Of Other Editors

'Outsiders' Pose Problem

The pressure that students from other states exert in the competition for openings in Pennsylvania colleges generally escapes attention. But it exists. And from all indications it is growing.

A recent development in New Jersey points to one of the reasons why this is so.

New Jersey, like a number of progressive states, has a substantial college scholarship program going for the benefit of its qualified students. It calls for 2,400 scholarships of $400 apiece.

At the time it was established in July, 1959, New Jersey colleges argued that all of the scholarships should be used within the state. Legislators from South Jersey, where colleges are scarce, urged that some of the scholarships be open to students who wanted to go out of New Jersey for their higher education. A compromise was reached: 85 percent of the scholarships to be used within the state; the rest with no restriction.

The South Jersey legislators kept fighting, however. A senator from Camden County near Philadelphia said that as the program has worked out, so many applications came in for the 15 percent unrestricted scholarships that standards for passing the qualifying tests became extremely high. South Jersey students got caught in the squeeze. Another senator, supporting him, cited figures that might disturb Pennsylvanians. At least 80 percent of the college students in South Jersey, he said, commute to and from institutions in and near Philadelphia. They should have financial help, he argued, to enable them to stay overnight.

As a result the New Jersey Senate passed a bill to permit use of all the 2,400 scholarships each year at approved colleges in any part of the country.

Not only New Jersey but New York and a number of other states in the East have moved in recent years to provide ever greater opportunities for their bright youngsters to get to college. Our State Government has done nothing. It has failed to set up a broad scholarship-loan program, and it has been woefully stingy in its support of low-tuition, public institutions.

Pennsylvania students and their families right now are paying a price for this neglect. And as costs increase, as the number of applicants increases and the pressure from out-of-state students grows greater, the price to Pennsylvanians, in terms of restricted educational opportunities, will soar.

'I Gave Plenty of Advice—but No One Would Listen!'

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Formation Of Cabinet

President-elect Kennedy has already broken several precedents, the most unusual being the appointment to his Cabinet of two men in critical positions whom he did not know personally and had not even met until he offered them the posts.

His secretary of state, he met only shortly before he announced his appointment, the name coming to him as a non-political nomination, presumably from Dean Acheson who did not seek the post.

He appointed a registered Republican, Robert S. McNamara, president of the Ford Motor Co., secretary of defense, of whom he had not even heard, also upon a non-political recommendation.

Thus far, the Cabinet represents few political pay-offs. Adlai Stevenson is sent as ambassador to the United Nations and there is quite a fanfare about his influence on policy. In fact, too many protestations have been made about Adlai Stevenson's influence on policy.

The entire business seems contrived and can be put down as such until otherwise established. The foreign policy of the United States, as things stand, is likely to be made by John Kennedy, and Adlai Stevenson will have about as much influence as Henry Cabot Lodge had on John Foster Dulles.

The Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt-Mary Lasker-Anna Rosenberg faction in the Democratic Party has not been ignored.

There has been no political pay-off on any of the top Cabinet posts, the President-elect apparently seeking men of competence. The proposal to send Prof. Kenneth Galbraith of Harvard to India is interesting if not amusing.

During the campaign, the Keynesian professor was used by press, radio and television to make profundities and thus the impression arose that whatever he said was out of the horse's mouth.

It was assumed by many that he would sit on the President's right hand and utter the most brazen syllogisms whereupon the country would be shaken to its roots.

The Cabinet appointment of Gov. Abraham Ribicoff, who was Kennedy's floor manager at the Convention, cannot be regarded as a political pay-off. Gov. Ridicoff has proved himself to be one of the ablest governors in the country. His promotion to any post is a national gain. The likelihood that he may eventually go to the United States Supreme Court is a welcome prospect.

What is most interesting about this Cabinet at the moment of writing — when appointments have not yet been completed—is that the President-elect is assembling a non-political Cabinet.

Thus far, he has not appointed one man to top Cabinet level who adds to the political strength of the President except as he made good in the opinion of the American people.

If these appointments do not work out, if these men are incompetent or corrupt, Kennedy will have to let them go fast because, in view of his narrow majority and his lack of strength in Congress, his Administration must start off well. He must accomplish much by the Congressional elections of 1962.

The elements of danger for the new President are in the State and Treasury departments. The State Department requires total reorganization. Its personnel contains too many weak elements, particularly among the career men.

Its operations are too costly for the results obtained. (Ethiopia is an example: we spent $115,000,000 on aid to that country and we face an antagonistic coup d'etat.) The question is who will do this job of reorganization and with what courage.

It is to be remembered that the father, Joseph Kennedy, was a member of the Hoover Commissions on the Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government. He was an active and able member and worked closely with Herbert Hoover. Robert Kennedy once worked for the Hoover Commission.

Also practically every measure introduced in the Congress for implementing the Hoover Commission reports was presented by Sen. John Kennedy and bears his name. Therefore, it is to be assumed that the President is familiar with the weaknesses of the State Department and the urgent need for reorganization.

The same, in a lesser degree, is true of Treasury where bureaucrats have been frozen into fixtures and seem, in their permanency, to be unrelated to the United States. These fellows need to be reminded that their salaries are paid by the American taxpayers who expect them to behave with better understanding of the requirements of the American people.

Social Security Guide

Q. I have been told I should check my social security record every three years. Why is it necessary to check so often?

A. There is a limit to the period within which certain corrections can be made. Generally, your record becomes final after three years. Therefore, if you wait more than three years, your record will be considered final and, except in unusual cases, cannot be corrected.

The Pennsylvania Story

Green In Control

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — There are those who feel the Capital of Pennsylvania should be moved to Philadelphia.

To all intents and purposes — insofar as the trend at the present time is concerned — it might just as well be transplanted.

However the chances are good that notwithstanding this feeling — Pennsylvania's official Christmas tree will continue to be erected on the steps of the Capitol right here in Harrisburg for some eons to come; it's simply too much to haul a 75-foot hemlock another 100 miles!

Much of this feeling about transferring Capitol Hill and its heavy squirrel population southeast to the haunts of Ben Franklin stems of course from the simple, unadulterated fact that once again the cycle has changed and it is the political spellbinders from the Quaker City who today are running the show in the Keystone State.

The "Philadelphia era" in which Pennsylvania's "upstaters" now find themselves smogged is nothing new. It was true under the late lamented regimes of such staunch Philadelphia Republicans as Bill Vare and Boies Penrose whose GOP machines of yesteryear decreed when it was time to raise and lower the flag on Capitol Hill here in Harrisburg.

Today the scene is reverting to type — only this time it is the Philadelphia Democratic machine that is calling the shots on the flag raising and lowering, a unique switch at least.

This of course stems from the inescapable fact that Quaker City Democrats in recent years have all but pushed their Republican rivals — lock, stock and ballot box — into the murky waters of the Delaware.

In fact they have pushed so hard under the aegis of one-time World War II infantryman William J. Green — now member of Congress, Philadelphia Democratic chairman and big-wig political what-not — that it is the Philadelphia Democratic organization with its 331,000-vote majority November 8 that now is being credited in some quarfers as being the decisive factor in the election of President-elect John F. Kennedy!

Unquestionably Philadelphia's Mr. Green, like his GOP predecessors, has become just about as big a kingpin as possible without being an actual king.

This has been reflected more and more here on Capitol Hill since donkey riders moved into the administration slot some six years ago — but it is being reflected more specifically and more pointedly at the moment.

For example, when Senate Democrats with their even-stephen 25-25 seating tabulation went through their "organization" motions last week, the two top Senate spots went to well recognized Green organization henchmen: the post of Senate President Pro Tempore to Philadelphia Sen. Anthony J. DiSilvestro, and the Democratic floor leadership post to Philadelphia Sen. Charles R. Weiner.

These are the two key posts in the upper chamber insofar as Pennsylvania Democrats are concerned — and when the full-blooded 5-man Senate organizes for the 1961 session there is little doubt that the Philadelphian DiSilvestro will get the post of post of president pro tem inasmuch as the presiding officer of the Senate, Democratic Lt. Gov. John Morgan Davis (also a Green Philadelphian!) will know which way to cast the tie-breaking vote. (The Weiner floor leadership post of course is not up for senatewide contest — that being filled by the Democratic bloc itself.)

The point in this illustration is that Pennsylvania Democrats as a whole today are listening pretty closely to Philadelphia, and at the present rate they will be for some time to come.

And so, while there may be those who feel the Capitol should be moved to the Quaker City — there is still the question of that 75-foot Christmas tree every year!

Monroe Tuberculosis Society goes into its final days this week in an effort to secure funds to run the beneficial organization's program for 1961.

Thus far, the campaign for the TB unit has been lagging not only behind last year's figures but also in '58.

Perhaps the tighter grip on pocketboks this year has caused the delay of persons in sending in their contributions to the group which has done ever so much for the people of Monroe as well as the United States.

Let's hope the next five days brings a loosening of the cash pockets and a wave of dollars toward the Monroe TB offices.

We imagine the people of Pen Argyl and Phillipsburg, N. J. are quite disturbed that Jayne Mansfield failed to mention the two areas in her "This Is Your Life" epic on television Sunday night.

Nary a word was said by Jayne or emcee Ralph Edwards that she spent some of her childhood in Pen Argyl and Phillipsburg. There shouldn't have been no dark past here. But the bypass brought thoughts to minds of Slate Belters and Jerseyites.

We sort of got a chuckle out of Edwards' probing, attempting to make Miss Mansfield a Phi Betta Kappa girl despite less than two years of college.

Ralph did mention, though, that Jayne got an "A" in philosphy. Which could mean that she was looking for stardom when going to Texas University and Southern Methodist in those two years of collegiate schooling.

We doubt any professor would have given the well-proportioned woman anything but an "A" no matter what her thoughts on life.

For our money she could have just sat in her seat and said nothing and still come out with the highest mark in the class. After-all eyeing Jayne is a lesson in itself.

John Gebbie and his missus, operators of a South Stroudsburg service station are happy persons today.

Sunday Gebbie and his wife took a ride with their faithful dog, "Pepper." When the two popular Stroudsburg folks decided to change drivers, "Pepper" escaped. The pair didn't notice the canine absence until later after they had driven away.

However, a short time later Gebbie saw his dog running toward their vehicle. Both master and "Pepper" were delighted, with the "lost" canine the happiest when they resumed partnership.

The Allen-Scott Report

Battles Rules Group

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — President-elect Kennedy, already working on the details of his legislative program, is weighing two plans to cut it through Congress with a maximum of speed and a minimum of opposition.

To accomplish that, he is considering:

Thowing his weight behind Speaker Sam Rayburn to be an ex-officio member of the House Rules Committee with authority to vote on ties. Kennedy's backing, coupled with Rayburn's personal prestige, it is believed would ensure his being named to this powerful committee which controls consideration of legislation by the House.

Late this month convening a meeting of all the Democratic leaders of Congress to outline his legislative proposals and get their views on how best to expedite their enactment.

Seeking assurances from the chairman of the committees that will handle his measures that they will not block their submission to the Senate and House—as happened on major bills in the recent Congress.

The first two of these plans were suggested at a luncheon conference by Rep. William Green, head of the Philadelphia Democratic organization that carried this city for Kennedy by a record breaking majority of 333,000. It was this extraordinary margin that put Pennsylvania and its 32 electoral votes in his column.

Sen. Joseph Clark (D., Pa.), at another conference, urged the third move.

Green stressed the importance of moving quickly and forcefully to prevent the Rules Committee from obstructing Kennedy's program.

"That's the biggest danger facing it," warned Green, who is a member of the influential Committee on Committees. "Once your measures reach the floor, you won't have too much trouble getting the votes for them. I am quite confident every one will be adopted—if you can get a vote on them. That's the rub, and that's why you've got to see to it the Rules Committee can't block that."

"Your ideas on how to go about that sound very good to me," said Kennedy. "You're 100 per cent right about the Rules Committee being the key problem in putting through our legislative program. If we don't solve that promptly, we're pretty sure to have a lot of trouble later on."

Sen. Clark in urging that committee chairmen be asked for advance pledges of cooperation, stated that if they are obtained he would shelve his announced intention to lead a fight to revise the Senate rules to bar unlimited debate—that is, filibusters.

"I would be willing to do that in the interest of party harmony," said Clark. "But if the committee chairmen balk at committing themselves to expedite your bills, then I see no alternative but to demand a change in Rule 22. It's either that, or you'll have serious trouble getting Senate consideration of your measures. So we might as well have it out at the start of the session."

Sen. Clinton Anderson (D., N.M.), slated to succeed to the chairmanship of the Interior Committee, is prepared to support Clark in such a showdown. Anderson has told Kennedy that.

The President-elect indicated he is anxious to avoid moves likely to disrupt Democratic unity. But he fully agreed with Clark and Anderson that it is crucial to eliminate barriers to prompt consideration by the House and Senate of his legislative program.

"I know unless that's done," said Kennedy, "the Republicans and other opponents will scuttle our bills. And neither the country nor we can stand for that."

Musical Chairs — Foremost among the Senate committee changes in the forthcoming Congress will be: Sen. Estes Kefauver will attain his long-sought ambition to be a member of the Foreign Relations Committee; Sen. John Sparkman, Ala., will take over the chairmanship of that committee's Far East Subcommittee; Sen. John Stennis, Miss., will become head of the Preparedness Subcommittee; Sen. Pat McNamara, Mich., will assume the chairmanship of the Labor Subcommittee that will handle the long-stymied bill to increase the minimum wage to $1.25; Sen. Frank Church, Idaho, will become chairman of the African Affairs Subcommittee; and Sen. Robert Kerr, Okla., will replace Vice President-elect Lyndon Johnson as head of the potent Aeronautics & Space Committee.

Sen. Albert Gore, Tenn., is seeking support for a move to require the election of members of the Senate Democratic Steering and Policy Committees. Under existing procedure these influential committees are now named by the Democratic Floor Leader. Gore wants them chosen by the vote of the Democratic caucus.

Sen. Joseph Clark, Pa., is telling colleagues he intends to go through with his plan to demand a secret vote in the Democratic caucus on Sen. Harry Byrd, Va., retaining the chairmanship of the Finance Committee. Clark admits the odds are against him both in the caucus and, even more so, in the Senate where the Republicans would vote on such a proposal. Virtually all of them would support Byrd.

Vice President Nixon has accepted a lucrative offer to write a series of articles on his experiences in the Eisenhower Administration. He may also write a book of memoirs.

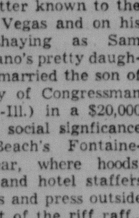
Too Many Wombs

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

"Do you mean to tell me I can't have babies because I have too many wombs?" demanded Gina.



"Yes, and that's why you have so much pain, too."

The doctor then explained that Gina suffered from endometriosis — miniature extra wombs scattered inside the lower abdomen.

How does endometriosis begin?

Womb lining cells — called "endometrium" — may journey upstream to start new colonies. Or perhaps cells already upstream become hypnotized into thinking they belong in the womb. Nobody knows which.

Every month, from adolescence to change of life, the womb builds a soft, cushioned cradle for any new visitor. If no baby arrives to occupy this berth before birth, it is cast off in the menstrual flow at the end of the month.

Prepare For Baby

The miniature wombs of endometriosis think big and prepare for a full-sized baby each month. When no baby arrives they, too, shed their lining. But gradually they become overfilled storehouses for old prenatal cradles and bulge until they burst.

And so endometriosis rarely troubles women before the early thirties. The extra wombs somehow interfere with their having babies; their prenatal berths go unused. But after fifteen or twenty years without trouble, they begin to ache during that time of the month. Soon tummyaches sharpen into appendicitis-like pains.

Unlike usual difficulties these pains get worse and worse until the flow finally stops. Then, only vague aches remain until it's time again.

Blocks Tract

A miniaturized womb may bulge into the intestinal tract and block it completely during the menstrual swell. Although this blockade resembles a cancer, it clears when the flow stops.

Endometriosis is only as serious as its symptoms. And doctors know how to end them.

Nature's Cure

Change of life is a natural cure. If you aren't troubled much, mild pain killers can help you wait for this natural remedy. But if endometriosis chokes off intestines and smothers you with pain, you can't wait those ten or fifteen years.

Instead of the complicated operation to remove these extra wombs, your doctor may prefer to bring on your change of life immediately.

This change of life can really change your life! Look at Gina, pain-free and happy with her first (adopted) baby!

She's the only woman in town who started a family after the change of life!

New York Confidential

Another Monday (But I'm the same Mortimer) No sooner did this department start Connie Stevens and Gary Clarke on the altar road than Gary dated Ruta Lee . . . What's with Vicki Dougan of the backless dresses (which is almost ancient history) and Jim Sweeney? . . . The tightly knit Chicago mob (with Murray "The Camel" Humphreys of the old Capone team still calling the signals) absorbed the Tony Accardo fall without a rumble. New No. One man in the operating setup is Sam (Mooney) Giancano, better known to the girls in Las Vegas and on his sassiety sashaying as Sam Flood. Giancano's pretty daughter, Bonnie, married the son of the secretary of Congressman Libonati (D.-Ill.) in a $20,000 ceremony of social signficance at Miami Beach's Fontainebleau last year, where hoods, tough guys and hotel staffers kept the cops and press outside with the rest of the riff raff... Chicago is the only city in the country where gangsters are still loked up to in awe by silly young girls and sillier old businessmen. Apes like the Fischetis and Capone brothers are distinguished citizens and wield immense political influence through the rotten Cook County machine.

Lucille Ball looked just lovely at El Morocco after the "Wildcat" opening, but where was Desi Arnaz? He paid for the party! . . . Bob Evans gets around almost as much as Zsa Zsa is alleged to get around. His latest is Leticia Roman.

And the same old style: For the benefit of those naive children over there who wondered in print about my notation that "insiders" predict cabaret license suspensions will not hold up, I will explain in small words that even eggheads can understand. Many legal experts think the law as now written will not stand in court because the cops are the prosecutors and also the judges, first making the complaints, then passing on them. I am 100 percent in favor of these cabaret fingerprinting laws, but I think the present setup is bad, i.e. requiring artists to go downtown, setting an expiration date on prints which never change, and giving the police the power to act on their own complaints. What a build up for shakedowns.

Which reminds me that Angus Duncan, executive secretary of Actors Equity, testified in a pretrial hearing of the Stork's five-million suit against Equity that he or Equity have no objections to any individual member going to the club. (To testify otherwise would be a violation of the Landrum-Griffin act.) . . . Zsa Zsa wants me to know (from the Coast) that there were not nine other guys during her New York merry-go-round. That the only one she went to Chez Vito with was Bob Straile. Then they went to visit her daughter and his son at their respective schools. Is it that serious, dollink? . . . Advice to chumps: With gals who get mink it's love at fur's sight.

I'm still alive (And Livin'!): Sammy Davis, Jr., proves at the Copacabana that he is the greatest all-around entertainer in the business without an equal in any department. So why does he need the Rat Pack at all? None showed for his opening, at that. Instead of fearing Sinatra, doesn't he realize how devastating his take-off on the Pack's Chairman of the Bored really is? May Britt didn't make the premiere either, but she may be at his side by now . . . I suppose I'm crazy for even talking about tough guys like Joey Gallo and his brothers and I'm getting in deeper when I mention Sonny Franzese, who lives in Long Island and operates principally in Williamsburgh. He is one of the most feared characters in this part of the world, closely allied with the Napolitano boys of Jersey . . . The N. Y. situation is pretty befuddled at the moment and in a state of flux. The best opinion is that Mike Miranda is about as big a boss as there is hereabouts. . . If the James Masons were splitting, they aren't now. There's a reunion of the whole family in New York this week . . .

A MONROE County Court jury Friday returned a verdict totaling $13,750 for the plaintiff in a trespass action resulting from the deaths of two persons in an automobile-tractor-trailer accident on Nov. 1, 1958.

The verdict was in favor of Donald W. Evans, administrator of the estate of Joan LeBar Evans, and against Lee B. Koehler, administrator of the estate of Lionel Lester Olson and Norwalk Truck Lines, Inc., of Delaware, and Bruce Stevens.

Killed In Crash

Mrs. Evans, 26, of 738 Main St., Stroudsburg, and Olson, 21, a specialist fourth class stationed at Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot, were killed in the early morning accident on Route 611 near the signal corps depot entrance.

Olson was identified as the driver of the car in which the two were riding. Stevens, 45, of Syracuse, N. Y., was the driver of the tractor-trailer.

The jury awarded $9,000 against the Olson estate on a count of wrongful death and another $4,000 on the survival action, brought on behalf of Mrs. Evans' young daughter, Robin.

$750 On Survival

The award against the truck line and Stevens was for $750 on the survival action.

James R. Marsh represented the plaintiff, while J. Joseph McCluskey and Russell Mervine and Walter Olenick were attorneys for the defendants.

TOM WARING, popular personality of Monroe County, was admitted to Monroe County General Hospital yesterday after suffering a heart attack.

His condition at the hospital last night was listed as "guarded."

Waring, a leader in community affairs for many years after a great career as one half of the famed Waring Pennsylvanians musical organization, had been in good health before suffering the attack.

He resides at Shawnee.

Scott Urges GOP Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, (R-Pa.), said Monday the Republican party should give President-elect John F. Kennedy every chance to implement his program.

"Where we in Congress can support it, we should do so with good heart," Scott said in a newsletter to constituents.

"I do not believe that responsible government comes from bloc manipulation for the sake of obstructionism alone."

He added that wherever Republicans believe the people's interests are not being served they should register their opposition and "do so vigorously."

Scott noted that Vice President Nixon, Republican candidate for president, came very close to election and that Republicans gained a bit in the Senate and substantially in the House.

Jury To Hear Raid Evidence

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Permission was given Monday for a third grand jury to hear evidence against 32 persons arrested in mass numbers and gambling raids here June 30.

Judge Vincent J. Dalton gave permission to Dist. Atty. Robert M. Harris to submit evidence to a new Schuylkill County jury Feb. 20. His order was concurred in by President Judge James J. Curran and by Judges Harold L. Paul and Charles W. Staudenmeier.

Grand juries in October and December ignored charges.

Pennsylvania State Police Commissioner Frank McCartney, in Pottsville to confer with Harris, said, "I am well pleased with the court's action and with the district attorney's action in petitioning for resubmission."

Planned To Kill Kennedy At Mass

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A federal official said Monday a retired postal clerk under arrest for threatening the life of President-elect John F. Kennedy wanted especially to blow him up during a mass in the Palm Beach Catholic Church.

Richard Pavlick, 73, favored this plan because he is violently anti-Catholic, Asst. U. S. Atty. Robert Rust said.

When he was arrested last Thursday in West Palm Beach, Pavlick told newsmen he wanted to kill Kennedy because of "the underhanded way he was elected."

"Kennedy money bought the White House and the presidency," Pavlick said at the time. "I had the crazy idea I wanted to stop Kennedy from being president."

2 Inches Of Snow Falls Here

APPROXIMATELY two inches of snow fell on Monroe County yesterday, giving a fresh topping to the remains of a nine-inch fall last Sunday and Monday.

The new fall was estimated by a spokesman for the Monroe County office of the State Highways Dept.

The local office had 32 trucks, 13 pickups, four loaders, one shovel, one grader and 68 men on duty, clearing and cindering roads.

Light Forecast

The U. S. Weather Bureau in its five-day forecast for today through Saturday calls for one-tenth to six-tenths of an inch of snow, mostly as flurries, during that period.

However, the Weather Bureau station at Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport calls for snow either this afternoon or tonight.

Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg police reported light traffic snarls as the result of the snow.

Stroudsburg police reported traffic disrupted for "a short time" as the result of closing of the Seventh St. bridge and the fact that signs indicating the necessary detour were delayed in being placed. East Stroudsburg police reported one slight tieup.

Police Chief John B. Tretheway said the state was "on the ball" with cindering operations and the storm caused no trouble.

Area State Police estimated the fall at from one-half to three inches in various sections. They reported roads plowed and cindered and said there were no traffic tieups.

State Police at Lehighton reported about one-half inch and said roads were slick in some places, but that cindering operations were proceeding normally.

Roads

Troopers at Milford said about an inch fell there and that roads were cindered. At Pocono Lake, State Police estimated between two and three inches and troopers at Mt. Pocono said about an inch fell there. All said there were no traffic delays and there were no reports of accidents.

The visits are made on people of all faiths to encourage more discussion of the Bible and the importance of our times as related to prophecy.

The program will begin Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. with a ministry training school, followed by a 30-minute discourse by Homolka.

Field Service

Wednesday through Sunday will be devoted to field missionary service.

The Saturday evening program begins at 8 o'clock with a Bible question period, "New Things Learned," followed by a 30-minute discourse by Homolka.

All meetings will be held at Kingdom Hall, Milford Road, East Stroudsburg.

Park Project In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A huge park acquistion program that would add 25,000 acres to the state's public lands has been proposed by the New York State Council of Parks.

Sixty-two tracts would be financed under a plan, authorized in a referendum Nov. 8, to issue $75 million in state bonds to buy open land for parks and conservation work.

Most of the land would be added to existing parks but 16 of the purchases would create new parks.

Four Asphyxiated

IBW Heater Keeps Sulphur A Liquid

INTERNATIONAL Boiler Works, East Stroudsburg, began working on a project to keep sulphur in a liquid state from the time it comes from the earth until it is delivered to the manufacturer about one year ago.

Today Freeport Sulphur Company uses 10 of the heaters in the mining, transporting and storing material.

The heater is a thermo liquid device of the LaMont Forced recirculation generator type.

The new heater replaces the heating systems that were filled with steam to keep the material in its liquid state. The thermo liquid is pumped through coils in the sulphur tanks, after they have been filled. With the temperature of the thermo liquid remaining between 320 and 340 degrees the sulphur remains a liquid.

Liquified In Well

Sulphur when mined is liquified in the well by steam and the pressure forces it to the top of the well. Prior to IBW's thermo liquid heater the sulphur was stored in piles on the earth to await shipment.

Shortly after being exposed to the air the sulphur returns to its solid form. It was shipped in bulk — big pieces — and much was lost in the handling.

With the present heater the mineral is liquified in the ground, brought to the surface and stored or shipped in heated tanks, still in a liquid state, and delievered to the manufacturer as a liquid.

May Store It

The manufacturer can retain it as a liquid or store it at a temperature that will allow the material to return to a solid state.

Christmas Packages 'Available'

THIS IS the time of the year when most people begin to pull the hair out of their heads, regarding last minute presents and getting out those last Christmas Cards that were forgotten when the original list was made.

With all the hurry here and there it is hard for one to retain their wits 100 per cent.

Saturday night two women found five packages in downtown Stroudsburg and took them to the Control Center at Stroudsburg Municipal Building. They thought that they would be missed and police would be urged to be on the lookout.

Still There

This, however did not happen. The five packages are still at the control center awaiting the owner or owners. Police said last night if anyone lost several packages Saturday night they could have them in time for Christmas if they would call the station and identify the packages.

The packages are wrapped in A. B. Wyckoff paper and contain sales slips. Unfortunately, though, the slips do not give the name of the person or persons making the purchase.

'All Lucky To Be Alive'

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — "We are all lucky to be alive," an Austrian medical orderly said Monday of his 18-hours imprisonment in Bukavu last week with the staff of an Austrian field hospital.

The orderly, Staff Sgt. Kurt Schmid, of Salzburg, was kept in a cell separated from the other 50 male members of the hospital staff.

The whole staff, including a laboratory assistant, Miss Gertrud Pieber, 21, was flown to Leopoldville Monday.

Miss Pieber had been rescued from the Congolese by U.N. civil affairs officer Robin Miller, a New Zealander. The others were held in prison until rescued by Nigerian U.N. soldiers after a pitched battle in which several scores of Congolese were reported killed or wounded.

Four Sentenced In Beating

MONTROSE, Pa. (AP)—Four young men were sentenced Monday to serve 9-18 months each in jail for beating an off-duty Binghamton, N.Y., patrolman and his brother.

The defendants, all from Binghamton, were Frederick R. Angevine, 21, his brother, Billy, 23, Robert D. Williams, 25, and William J. Stewart, 22.

Judge Edward Little Sr. of Susquehanna County Court said in sentencing the four:

". . .We are going to put a stop to any such conduct. . ."

Patrolman Paul J. Giblin, 38, of Binghamton, and his brother Kenneth, 28, of Conktin Forks, near Binghamton, suffered multiple injuries when they were beaten Oct. 7 on a road near Quaker Lake, Pa., just across the New York-Pennsylvania line. They said their automobile had been forced off the road by a car containing the defendants, after a drinking spree.

Moravians Hold Traditional Lovefeast Christmas Eve

By PAT WILLIAMS
(Last in the series of articles)

THE GREATEST festival of the church year for Moravians, is the beautiful and traditional Candlelight Lovefeast held on Christmas Eve.

It was originally held as a candlelight service in Marienborn, Germany, for the children of the community.

In those days, they were told the Christmas story and given lighted tapers trimmed with red ribbon to signify the wounds and pierced side Christ bore and the blood red flame of love which He had ignited in every heart. The year was 1747.

In America, the candlelight service was used on Christmas Eve in 1756, in Bethlehem. The Lovefeast was added to the services of the Moravian Church in 1727. It has become a means of celebrating great spiritual blessing and brotherly love. It also becomes a part of the celebration of Christmas.

In the Apostolic Church, it was a "breaking of bread together," but did not, nor does it today take the place of, or resemble Communion. The food (usually buns and mugs of beverage) is simple fare, and although to newcomers, a novel idea, a real blassing is experienced.

To a child brought up in a Moravian home, one of the first things associated with Christmas is the "Birthday Party for Baby Jesus."

On Christmas Eve, the whole family goes to the service. The church is fragrant with the greens. Overhead, in the chancel, hangs the glowing Moravian Advent Star.

The senior and junior choirs enter the church singing a carol, joined by the congregation. After they are in their places, the scripture is read, telling of the First Christmas.

During the singing of carols, the Deiners or Sacristan—married couples of the Church — wearing modern adaptations of traditional Moravian costume, bring in baskets of buns wrapped in napkins. After the distribution, hand to hand along the pews, the Deiners return with trays carrying mugs of cocoa and coffee, which are given out in the same fashion. When everyone has been served, grace is sung, and the Lovefeast is eaten. Anthems also are offered by the choirs.

The Sacristans pass among the congregation and take up the mugs, returning to the now dimly lit sanctuary carrying trays of lighted beeswax candles trimmed with colored paper frills. The particular odor of the beeswax is as seasonal as the fragrance of the greens.

The candles are passed along the pews. Children also receive one. Carols are sung during this phase.

When all of the worshippers have a lighted candle, a member of the junior choir wearing a deep blue choir gown, and holding a lighted taper, steps forward to lead the congregation in the singing of the beautiful and moving antiphonal anthem, "Morning Star."

As the child sings over the hush that has fallen, the words, "Morning Star, oh cheering sight," there is a welling up of a feeling that can only be described as joy. The congregation then answers with the words, "Ere thou camest, How dark earth's night." Again the child sings, "Jesus, Mine" with the answer of worshippers, "In me shine." The clear soprano echoes, "In me shine;" and a returning, "Jesus, Mine." Then all join the hymn of love, "Fill my heart with light divine."

With the conclusion of the service, the congregation leaves the Church, having experienced a renewal of the joy and adoration that the Shepherds and the Wisemen felt on that First Christmas Eve. Yet not really so long ago because of the glow of love kindled in each worshipper's heart.

As in all services of the Moravian Church, visitors are welcome. Should you wish to join in the Christmas Festival, the Candlelight Lovefeast will be held in the Canadensis Moravian Church at 7:00 p.m. Christmas Eve.

26 Die Of Gunshot Wounds In '60 Hunting Seasons

HARRISBURG (AP) — Twenty-six Pennsylvania hunters died of gunshot wounds during the 1960 small and large game seasons—including nine in the just-closed deer season.

The toll was the highest since 1953, when 34 hunters were shot to death. The deer season total was the highest since 1956, when 11 hunters were killed.

"Frankly, I'm at a loss to explain it," said M. J. Golden, executive director of the Game Commission.

He said a voluntary hunter training program inaugurated three years ago cut the 1959 season fatalities to 17 from an average 24 in the post World War II years.

"Not Bad Shots"

"We were feeling pretty good about it until this," said Golden.

"Apparently," said Golden, "the people doing the shooting are not bad shots. They hit what they aim at. The terrible part is that they mistake humans for game."

"The only answer is to step up our hunter safety program," Golden added.

Golden said some 5,000 volunteer instructors had trained more than 20,000 hunters in the safe handling of firearms and hunting practices during the past three years.

"And of that group not one has been involved in a hunting accident," the director declared. "The overwhelming majority of hunters are safety minded. But there are always a few who are careless or don't give a darn."

In addition to the deer season fatalities, there were 30 persons wounded by guns. Records of the number of wounded in the small game season were incomplete, the Game Commission said.

Last year there were only 17 gunshot fatalities in hunting accidents—five in the deer season. 11 small game hunters, and one non season hunter.

72 in 1931

The greatest number of hunter gunshot fatalities was in 1931, when 72 persons were killed.

However, the commission explained that the figures reflect the fact that hunters were allowed to carry loaded guns in their cars. That practice is now illegal. Formerly it accounted for most of the hunting season deaths.

In addition to the gunshot deaths, upwards of a dozen hunters died of heart seizures or other attacks resulting from over-exertion. The commission does not keep any record of deaths during the hunting seasons attributed to physical failure or to traffic accidents while hunters travel to or from hunting areas.

Missing Hunter Found In Woods

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—A hunter, lost for nearly two days in the mountains north of Somerset, was found Saturday, huddled over a small fire which he had built.

John Bango, 29, of Franklin Borough, near Johnstown, was rushed by ambulance to the nearby Windber Hospital, suffering from exposure and severe frostbite on his hands and feet.

A spokesman at the hospital said Sunday, Bango's condition was critical.

School District Mergers Sought

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Robert A. Christie, executive director of Gov. David Lawrence's task force on education, says a recommendation will be made to consolidate Pennsylvania's 2,277 school districts into 172 districts.

Dr. Christie told a group of Chester County school supervisors that each new district will have some 10,000 pupils. He said the education committee's proposals, to be made to the governor and the Legislature early next year, will boost educational spending.

Under the proposal, the counties will be given until 1966 to accomplish the reorganization. The state will specify the number of new districts each county should have.

Christie's statement confirmed earlier reports that such recommendations were imminent.

Hungary, Cuba Reach Accord

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Communist Hungary and Cuba signed an agreement Sunday establishing diplomatic relations, Budapest Radio said.

The two countries will exchange ambassadors under the agreement, signed for Cuba's Fidel Castro regime by Cuban National Bank Director Ernesto Che Guevara.

Guevara left Budapest Sunday night to continue a tour of Iron Curtain countries, the radio said.

The Daily Investor

Establishing Tax Loss

By William A. Doyle

Q. If I remember correctly, you once outlined a very simple way for a person to establish a tax loss in a stock that had dipped below the price at which it was purchased and still continue to own the stock. Didn't you say that it is possible to buy an equal number of shares of the same stock, sell the shares purchased previously and thereby establish a tax loss?

By broker says that this would be a wash sale. Can you clarify this?

A. No, I didn't say that. Yes, your broker is right.

There are ways to establish a tax loss for Federal tax purposes, while still "maintaining a position" in a stock.

The one you have in mind works this way. Buy an equal number of shares (thereby doubling the number you own). Wait more than 30 days. Sell the original shares.

Or you can sell the shares you own. Wait more than 30 shares and buy them back again.

You can also sell your shares and immediately buy stocks of another company in the same country. Wait more than 30 days. Sell your new stocks and buy back the shares you originally held.

There are other, more complicated ways. But these should be enough for the average investor.

Q. I have heard the expression "wash sale" quite often

Exactly what is a wash sale?

A. It's the sale and the purchase of the same stock (or some other capital asset) by the same person within a certain period of time.

Look at it this way: One transaction (the purchase) "washes out" the other transaction (the sale) so that no real change in ownership actually takes place.

Q. If I sell some stock at a lower price than I previously paid for that same stock, I "establish a tax loss." Right? How do I go about reporting this on my Federal income tax form?

A. You report it on Schedule D of the income tax form you file for the year in which you sold the stock. On Schedule D, you report your capital gains and your capital losses.

Your losses can be deducted from your gains, reducing your net gains. That means you have smaller gains to report and a smaller tax bill to pay.

If your losses are bigger than your gains, you have a net loss. You can deduct up to $1,000 of your net loss from your other income (salary, etc.) for the year in which you established the loss.

And you can "carry forward" any additional net capital losses as a short-term capital loss for the five following years.

Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.

Boulder Nears Journeys End

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — A boulder which rested on a hillside overlooking Bethlehem when Christ was born is nearing the end of a long journey to Coventry Cathedral. The freighter Norman Prince ferried it from Beirut, Lebanon.

Out of the three-ton stone, a font will be carved, symbolizing the link of the new cathedral with the birthplace of the Christian faith.

The font will rest on a pedestal beneath a great window in the cathedral, rebuilt on the ruins of the medieval church razed by German bombs in World War II.

Dear Abby

Proper Upbringing

Dear Abby: We are trying to raise our 15-year-old daughter right. She has been dating since she was 13. She is very mature for her age (physically) and is very popular with the boys.

We used to allow her to stay out until 11 p.m. on school nights and 1:00 a.m. on week-ends. Her grades started to slip badly, so we changed her curfew to 10 p. m. on school nights and 12:30 a.m. on week-ends. She now has her dates pick her up at 6:30 p.m. Isn't this a little too early? She says if she has to be in at ten she has to get an early start. Do you think this is proper?

PARENTS OF A POPULAR GIRL

Dear Parents: She may be getting an "early start" for a sad finish. I would not permit a high school girl to date at all on school nights. Until her grades improve, midnight is late enough for week-ends. And her date should not call for her until 7:00 p.m. at the earliest.

Dear Abby: My problem is one I have never told anyone about, but I need advice, so I'll be honest with you. I am 39, Abby, but I am passing for 28. I am engaged to marry a fellow who is 26. I am a divorcee but I kept it quiet because divorcees are looked down on in this town. Also, I was raised in one religion but go to another church because I like the people better.

My question is: How much should tell my fiance about myself? If a person likes you for yourself, are age, religion and past important?

SILVER BLONDE

Dear Silver: Age, religion and certainly a divorce are very important to a man who's asked you to marry him. Tell him the truth now because once you are married and those skeletons in your closet start to rattle, they'll drown out the strains of "Home Sweet Home."

Dear Abby: When a girl asks a boy to a girl-ask-boy party, is the girl supposed to make arrangements to have the boy picked up and brought home? I just asked a boy to one of these parties and nobody seems to know how to go about it. We are both 14.

NOT SURE

Dear Not: You have asked him to be your escort. It is up to him to call for you and see you home. If the boy's parents cannot supply the transportation, the girl's parents should assume the responsibility.

For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, care of The Daily Record.

Newspaperman's Services Held

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Funeral services will be held Wednesday for John C. Manning, 51, a Pittsburgh Post-Gazette copy editor. Manning suffered a fatal heart attack Sunday at his news desk. He joined the Post-Gazette last April after the newspaper purchased the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

She Can't Keep Figures Straight

KENIFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Elizabeth Rudel Smith, 49, President-elect John F. Kennedy's choice for treasurer of the United States, was up at 5 a.m. to telephone her daughter who lives in Bedford Village, N.Y.

The daughter, Mrs. Robert W. Gunn, couldn't believe the news.

"Why, mother," she said, "you could never keep a checkbook straight."

Just Between Us — —

One form of "making the punishment fit the crime" might be to make columnists reread their own columns. Of course I really didn't have to follow instructions but the challenge was hard to resist.

A handsome Christmas card read "Just re-read your column of Dec. 1, 1959. Suggest you do the same." It was signed "An Old Schoolmate." So I did. It was neither very good or very bad: something about being reluctant to get into the Christmas spirit, to stir up emotions glossed over by daily routine, to disturb sleeping ghosts.

At least, that's what I think I meant when I wrote it. Re-reading it, I wondered if it had any other meaning for that particular "Old Schoolmate." Did he, or she, also fear to evoke the ghosts of Christmas Past? Or was I being chided because this year I've just been plugging along?

You never know, really, how good the line of communication is with your readers. Sometimes a casual reference can bring comfort that you never knew was there; sometimes your very best effort brings only bewilderment.

"Do you remember that column you wrote about 'weeds,'"? a woman asked me recently. "I was in the hospital and feeling unwanted and unhappy and you wrote about admiring weeds. Nobody wanted them, everybody tried to get rid of them but they grew on just the same while tenderly-nurtured plants turned up their toes and died at the least little thing. Well, I just made up my mind I was going to be a weed, and I got better right away."

Oh it's a challenge—but one I dare not take too seriously or I'd dry up and never write another word. In fact, if I had to read them all over again, I probably wouldn't anyway.

Cookie Cooks Can Shine With These Sweets

Tuck some of these cookies in the holiday boxes you're packing for your family, neighbors and friends. In about an hour you can make five dozen of these confections — sweet with candied pineapple and dates, crunchy with nuts and rolled oats.

Cookie Confections

1½ cups chopped nuts
8 ounces pitted dates (chopped)
4 slices finely-chopped candied pineapple (2 slices red and 2 green)
¾ cup sifted flour
1 cup sugar
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 egg whites

Mix all the ingredients except the egg whites. Beat whites stiff; fold into mixture. With damp hands, if necessary, shape into balls, using about 1 teaspoon of the mixture for each. Place about 1 inch apart on well-buttered cookie sheet. Bake in slow (300 degrees) oven 25 to 30 minutes.

Cool on wire racks. Makes 5-dozen. Cookies may be frozen.

"THAT'S MY BABY" points out Michelle Hitt of Mountainhome while big brother, Brian Hitt, wonders how much. However, these dollies in the window at 581 Main St., Stroudsburg are not for sale. The work of many loving hands, they will be on display until Thursday when they will be distributed by the Salvation Army to gladden the hearts of 150 little girls. That's how many dolls have been dressed by local women. Some of the dolls are provided by the Salvation Army, some contributed by teachers, some by local children. Church groups, mothers of school classes, and other organizations have cooperated in dressing the army of dolls. Mrs. Foster Minnich is coordinator of the annual project.

Elderly Women Are Guests Of Soroptimists

It was difficult to tell who was having more fun, members of the Soroptimist Club or their guests, elderly women of the community, who were honored at a party held at the PP&L Service Center.

Mrs. Betty Noack was chairman of the party which included a full course turkey dinner with all the trimmings. All 15 guests were presented with gifts from the club. Table favors had been made by Cub Scouts.

There was entertainment by the Salvation Army chorus with electric guitar accompaniment. Miss Catherine Reimard president of the Soroptimist Club, shared with the women some of the lighter aspects of her trip to Europe last Summer.

Mrs. Noack was assisted in preparing and decorating by a committee.

Local Student Learns Of Safety Of Husband, Officer In The Ethiopian Army

Pre-Christmas activities in the Stroudsburgs took on a little rosier hue for Mrs. Elizabeth Karorsa when she received word that her husband, an officer in the Ethiopian Army Haile Selassie, was safe in Addis Ababa.

The young woman, a special student at East Stroudsburg State College, has had some anxious moments since the revolt broke out in Addis Ababa last Wednesday while Emporer Haile Selassie was on a state visit to Brazil.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kororsa (MacLeod)

Fragmentary reports first indicated a bloodless coup by the Imperial Palace guard and police to place the Emperor's son on the throne of the King of Kings. Later conflicting reports reported "a massacre" by "traitors" loyal to the Emperor.

Over the weekend, Emperor Haile Selassie returned to the capital in triumph and his forces pressed mop-up operations against the defeated rebels. A communique announced that the revolt had been crushed.

Mrs. Kororsa still has not heard directly from her husband, so she does not know his role in the national crisis or how deeply he was involved.

News of his safety came from the mission board responsible for her presence in this country. After her marriage in 1954, Mrs. Kororsa taught in the schools of Addis Ababa and studied at the university here. An orphan, raised in a Presbyterian mission school in Ethopia, she speaks excellent English.

Under the auspices of the United Presbyterian Church of the USA, she came to this country in September to study American educational methods. After her semester at the local college, she will travel to observe teaching methods in the various schools of this country before returning to Ethiopia, where her role will be to instruct other teachers.

She is living with the freshman girls at the Indian Queen Hotel and has spoken before several church groups.

The Altar and Rosary Society of St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church became one of a select society of the Christian Mothers' Society at their December meeting held at the church auditorium.

Rev. Didacus Dunn of the Capucian Fathers of Pittsburgh, assistant director of the society, announced that the Christian Mothers movement began in Lille, France, on May 1, 1850, with the object of the education of children by truly Christian mothers. There are now six Archconfraternities in the world: in Paris, Rome, Regensburg, Cracow, Ensidlen, and Pittsburgh. He enrolled each member present and presented them with a medal.

At the business meeting, it was announced that members will offer their Communion on Christmas morning to all shut-ins and members who are ill. The shut-ins will also be remembered with flowers and masses at Christmas time.

It was announced that Mrs. Arthur Henning will replace Mrs. John Brent as membership chairman for Stroudsburg. Mrs. Francis Ashcroft and Mrs. Robert Reidmiller, chairman of ways and means, announced that $40 will be sent to the Sisters of the Poor in Scranton from the denoations made at the meeting.

Mrs. Betty Noack, home economist of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co., spoke on "Things to Do For Christmas" including the making of Christmas candles; a door decoration from gift wrapping paper, and a tray for guests who drop in during the holidays.

The centerpiece of the tea table included fruit and vegetables arranged in greens around a table.

Mrs. Stephen Sobrinski and Mrs. Miles Werkheiser, as cochairmen of the refreshment committee, had arranged driftwood with white angels; reindeer and Christmas balls; and, on the officers' table, the Nativity scene. A large Christmas tree decorated with lights and tinsel decorated the hall.

Miss Ruth Lewis Anderson Bride Of Pre-Med Student

Miss Ruth Lewis Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ashley Anderson of Beacon Hill Road, Stroudsburg, became the bride of William Thomas Coggeshall, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert James Coggeshall of Rochelle, Ill., on Saturday morning, Dec. 17.

The ceremony was held in Saint James Cathedral, Rockford, Ill., where both the bride and bridegroom are students at Rockford College. Rev. Paul Fry, a former classmate of Rev. John Essef of St. Matthew's parish, East Stroudsburg, officiated. A dispensation was granted by Rev. Harold Durkin, St. Matthew's for the change of parish since the couple will live in Rockford and a further dispensation was granted by Saint James Cathedral for a nuptial mass in the season of Advent.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had as her maid of honor her sisters, Miss Eugenia Anderson, a graduate of Stroud Union High School in 1959, now a student at St. Lawrence University. She was also attended by her younger sister, Carole Anderson, a junior at Stroud Union High School.

Best man was John Gaffney of Rockford, Ill.

The bride's costume was of white cashmere with a violette of rose point lace. She carried gardenias.

Several parties preceded the wedding. Dr. and Mrs. Coggeshall also entertained at a bridal supper at their estate in Rochelle on Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were hosts at the wedding reception and luncheon at Sweden House in Rockford.

Mr. Coggeshall studied in Japan and at Northwestern University and is a senior, majoring in pre-med, at Rockford College.

His bride is a sophomore at Rockford College, the alma mater of her mother, Rosamond Lewis Anderson. She attended St. Matthew's School in East Stroudsburg, and is a graduate of College des Ursulines in Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. William Coggeshall will be at home after Jan. 15 at 1325 Rural St., Rockford.

Ivy Baker Priest Hails Another Woman In Charge Of Nation's Pocketbook

By Martha Cole

Washington (AP) — Ivy Baker Priest is delighted that she's going to turn the national pocketbook over to another woman next Jan. 20.

Mrs. Priest, treasurer of the United States for eight years, said she definitely thought the post should continue in feminine hands.

Why? "Because the average American woman is treasurer of her household, and why shouldn't a woman be treasurer of the United States?"

Elizabeth Rudel Smith, 49, California Democrat, mother of two and grandmother of two, has been named by President-elect John F. Kennedy to be treasurer in his administration.

Mrs. Priest, 55, Utah Republican, mother of three and grandmother of two, appointed by President Eisenhower as treasurer in 1953, already has written congratulations to her successor and an offer of "anything we can do to help her."

"The letter is on the way," Mrs. Priest said in an interview. She invited Mrs. Smith to come to Washington before she takes office and look over the job of being treasurer of the national household.

To the general public, it means putting your signature on all those crisp new bills of U.S. currency. Mrs. Priest recalls that she practiced writing her name at least 100 times before she turned in the signature that now appears on paper money.

Mrs. Priest has not decided what to do after she leaves office.

"Frankly, I've made no plans," she said. "First, I'm going to get a much-needed rest."

Mrs. Priest is no stranger to Monroe County having visited here with her family many times as the guests of David Gothe of Little Pond Farm, Franklin Hill.

Prayer circle meetings have been changed to Tuesdays instead of Wednesdays, it was announced. Mrs. Albert reported on the doughnut project.

Christmas games were played and secret pals exchanged gifts.

Christmas Activities At ES Church

The story of Christmas was given by the children of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Sunday School in song, recitation and tableau on Sunday.

The Junior department opened the program. Taking part were Victor Gromidin, Steven Smith, Gary Huffman, John Hood, Jere Lantz, Gary Hazen, and Ronald Horst, announcer.

A solo, "O Holy Night" was sung by Sue Lynne Edwards, and the following Junior girls gave recitations: Helena Gromidin, Kathy LaBar, Cathy Lewis, Deborah Kanych, Susan Huffman and Lillian Burrows.

The tableau of the Nativity was given by children from the kindergarten and primary departments with Richard Dunning as narrator. A choir of girls provided back ground music: Rebecca Christian, Nancy Cramer, Barbara Jo Lantz, Corinne Pansy, Virginia Peters, Deborah Rine, Jackie Sue Rine, Melissa Simmons, and Dorothy Wingerter.

Taking part in the tableau were Margaret Frisbie as Mary; Mark Kleinle as Joseph; and Carol Morton, Karen Barhight, Nancy Barhight, Carol Kleinle, Jane Peters, Lorianne Randall, Virginia Simmons and Sherrie Chase as angels; and Roger Christian, James Wingerter, Walter Gromidin, Matthew Hood and James Lindsey as shepherds and Douglas Schoonover, Terry Heeter and Michael Hope as Wise Men.

The program was part of many pre-Christmas activities at the church. The annual Christmas party for the entire Sunday School was preceded by a covered dish supper with an over-flow crowd on Wednesday.

A puppet show "Twismas Eve in Tweenice" was given by Baron Reinhart to the delight of the children. Carol singing was led by the superintendent, Gilbert Dunning, with Ernest Michelfelder as accompanist.

The climax of the party was the appearance of Santa Claus who distributed gifts to all the children.

Women Of Moose Party

The secret pal party and lodge meeting of the Women of the Moose will be combined on Wednesday night at 8 at the home of Nina Van Auken, Willow St., East Stroudsburg. Helen Roberts, Evelyn Fox and Ann Divine are cohostesses.

Members not able to be present are asked to send their secret pal gifts.

Office Christmas Party Causes Needless Woe

By Anne Heywood

Year in, year out, companies have office Christmas parties, presumably in an effort to raise morale and make everybody happy for the holidays. And year in, year out, I get anguished letters right after the holidays from girls who have made the inevitable mistakes.

Now I've been hearing from girls who have decided that the easiest way out is just not to go to the office party at all.

Pretend To Be Sick

"I'll pretend I have a cold or a broken leg or something," as one young woman put. "I'll never be missed."

But the truth of the matter is that you will be missed. What's more, your absence will be credited to snobbishness, prudishness, lack of esprit de corps, or perhaps just plain bad manners.

Go Cheerfully

Instead, go cheerfully to the office party, secure in the knowledge that you have arranged for a beau, a friend or a second cousin once removed to pick you up an hour after the party starts. This will give you ample time to exchange season's greetings and to make your appearance count.

It goes without saying that you should dress on the day of the Christmas party in a business-as-usual manner. If you arrive at the office so done up that they can't tell you from the Christmas tree, you'll make it look as though you go to so few parties that this is a Big Event in a pathetic life.

As long as you'll be at least an hour at the party, be sure to try to meet those in departments other than your own. At least one desirable end which an office Christmas party can serve is to bring together people who are ordinarily separated by the departmental system.

Inter-departmental socializing is frequently frustrated at office parties because of the natural tendency of personnel to stick to the cliques already flourishing in their own departments. But it may be important to your future to know and to be known by those in more key departments than your own. So don't lose the opportunity to circulate and make a good impression.

Your Absence At Christmas Party Will Stand Out.

(If you would like a pamphlet on "Pointers to Better Personal Relations," send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope in care of this newspaper and I will send it to you.)

Kansas City A's Have New Owner

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Charles Finley, virtually penniless 13 years ago, Monday bought himself a $1,975,000 Christmas present—control of the Kansas City Athletics baseball club.

For six years this suave, prematurely-graying, 42-year-old group insurance baron has been trying to buy a major league club.

Probate Court Judge Robert Dunne Monday approved Finley's bid for 52 per cent of the A's stock left in the estate of the late Arnold Johnson.

Ironically, in 1954 Johnson beat out Finley in bidding for the Philadelphia Athletics.

"I had a 9 a.m. appointment with Connie Mack, (A's owner then) to close the deal," Finley recalled. "Johnson beat me by getting an 8 a.m. appointment."

Finley mushroomed into a multi-millionaire on a plan to sell high income group insurance to doctors. He devised it while recuperating from a 27-month siege with tuberculosis a dozen years ago.

In gaining the majority stock, Finley outbid a Kansas City syndicate by $125,000. Previously, he had gone as high as $5 million in trying to get the Detroit Tigers, Chicago White Sox and the new Los Angeles American League entry.

Court approval of the block of stock is contingent on Finley being accepted by American League club owners. Their vote is to be presented to Judge Dunne within the next 10 days.

"The Kansas City group has a purchase agreement to obtain the remaining 48 per cent of the stock," Finley said. "I would love to own 100 per cent and I would be glad to reimburse them for the minority shares. But if they wish to retain them, that is all right, too.

"There will be no problem in getting league approval and I am not concerned with that. My intentions are to keep the A's permanently in Kansas City and to build for a winning ball club. I will spend any reasonable amount of money to get to the first division.

"I plan to surround myself with the best baseball brains available," continued Finley, who as a youngster was bat boy for the Birmingham (Ala.) Barons and sandlot first baseman.

"At present, no consideration has been given to Parke Carroll as remaining as general manager. Joe Gordon definitely will stay as manager. And Kansas City will not be a farm team for any other club in the league. We'll do business with all of them."

McPeak Hiked To Head Coach

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bill McPeak was promoted to head coach of the Washington Redskins Monday and given the tough job of shaping the tailend club into a championship contender.

McPeak, 34, for the past two years an assistant coach, got the official nod only a day after Mike Nixon was fired as top man and the Redskins ended a season with a single win, nine loses — and two ties.

McPeak received a one-year contract. Terms were not disclosed.

Owner George Preston Marshall—telling newsmen, "I hope he's head coach here for many years"—said the one-year contract was at McPeak's request.

McPeak said he feels, "I can prove myself in a year."

The new field boss for the Redskins has one distinction already—he's the youngest head coach in the league.

In McPeak, the Redskins are their 10th coach in the 24 seasons they have been in Washington as a member of the National Football League.

He inherits from Nixon a team which showed respectably on defense, but couldn't seem to work up any scoring punch behind erratic quarterback Ralph Guglielmi.

With a 4-18-2 record in two seasons under Nixon, the 'Skins seem badly in need of a player overhaul.

It's been 15 years since the team won the Eastern Division title (they took five in all) and 18 years since the Redskins captured the NFL championship.

Despite his relative youth, the balding McPeak has had 12 years in the NFL — nine as a player with the Pittsburgh Steelers. He was an all-pro defensive end several times.

PASS DEFENSE — Los Angeles Chargers back Charlie McNeil slams into Leon Burton of the New York Titans so hard that the pass intended for Burton spurts from his hands during game at Los Angeles. Van Brocklin To Coach?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Inquirer said Monday night Norman Van Brocklin, quarterback of the Philadelphia Eagles, has been offered the job of coach for the Minnesota Vikings —next year's new National Football League club.

Van Brocklin, recent winner of the Jim Thorpe Trophy as outstanding professional football player of the year, laughed at the reports. "It's news to me," he said.

There has been some speculation that Van Brocklin, who has already announced his retirement from the playing ranks, would likely succeed Buck Shaw, present Eagle mentor.

Bradley Is Second

Buckeyes Lead Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

OHIO State is the unanimous choice of a panel of sports writers and sportscasters voting in the weekly Associated Press basketball poll as the No. 1 major college team in the nation.

All of the 36 first place votes went to the Buckeyes who ran their perfect record to 4-0 Saturday by whipping Wichita 93-82 with All-America Jerry Lucas scoring 27 points.

Bradley was an overwhelming pick for the No. 2 spot with 33 second place votes after running its record to 6-0 by downing North Michigan, Nevada and Wisconsin since last week's poll. Bradley has won 12 in a row over a two-year period.

All voting, of course, was basel on the results of games played through Saturday, Dec. 17. Six of the leaders were in action Monday night, including Ohio State which played Loyola at Chicago Stadium and Bradley which faced Idaho. Ohio must play Detroit Thursday and Bradley has a Friday date with Cincinnati.

St. Bonaventure moved into third place with six straight by adding Xavier of Ohio and Morehead State to its list of victims. Tom Stith scored 41 against Morehead. After the Bonnies' game with Western Ontario Monday, they are out of action until a holiday tournament in Madison Square Garden next week.

Indiana retained the No. 4 spot by downing Missouri and Nevada. Its only game this week is against Notre Dame Tuesday.

Louisville, winner of the Bluegrass Tournament, ran its record to 8-0 Saturday by whipping Georgetown (Ky.) and advanced to the No. 5 position.

St. John's made Ohio University its fourth victim and moved up a peg to sixth place. The Redmen play Pitt Tuesday and Gonzaga Thursday before going into a holiday tournament next week in which Ohio State also is entered.

Duke, which beat South Carolina and Clemson to make it 5-0 was seventh, followed by Detroit (4-1) which bounced back from a defeat by Purdue to down Nebraska and Auburn (5-0) which won the Birmingham Classic by defeating Virginia Tech and Alabama. Auburn is idle this week.

There was a tie for 10th place between North Carolina (3-2) and North Carolina State (5-1). North Carolina lost to both Kentucky and Kansas State before winning over Kansas while N.C. State lost to Wake Forest but beat Georgia Tech.

The leaders with won-lost records and first place votes in parentheses with points on a 10-9-8 etc., basis (records through games of Saturday):

1.	Ohio State (36) (4-0)	360
2.	Bradley (6-0)	321
3.	St. Bonaventure (6-0)	212
4.	Indiana (4-1)	204
5.	Louisville (8-0)	178
6.	St. John's (4-0)	140
7.	Duke (5-0)	135
8.	Detroit (4-1)	81
9.	Auburn (5-0)	68
10.	(tie) North Carolina (3-2)	39;
	North Carolina State (5-1)	39.

Defer Decision

MELBOURNE (AP)—The Lawn Tennis Association of Australia Monday night deferred decision on what action it should take on the behavior of U.S. Davis Cup players while in Australia.

The association met to consider reports on incidents which occurred during the interzone final between the United States and Italy in Perth Dec. 9-12.

Grab AFL Pass Titles

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Kemp of Los Angeles and Lionel Taylor of Denver captured passing championships of the Professional American Football League—Kemp for throwing and Taylor for catching.

Final statistics announced by the AFL office Monday showed Kemp won the title by one efficiency point — 46 to 45 for Al Dorow of New York. Passing in the AFL is decided on a six-point basis, including the number thrown, completed, had intercepted, etc.

Kemp completed 211 out of 407 for 3018 yards and an average of .518. Taylor won the pass-receiving title with 92 catches for 1,235 yards and 13 touchdowns.

State Boxer Suspended

PITTSBURGH (AP)—State Athletic Commissioner Paul G. Sullivan on Monday suspended a Pittsburgh boxer and his manager on charges they withdrew from a bout shortly before it was to be held.

Jackie Matesic, a lightweight from the city's Lawrenceville section, was suspended two months and his manager, Jimmy Wingo, three months.

Both suspensions were retroactive to Nov. 29, the date Matesic was to meet Danny Livingston of Trenton, N.J., in a bout at the Palisades in nearby McKeesport. Sullivan said Wingo withdrew Matesic from the card in the afternoon, only a few hours before the bout was slated to start.

Pitcher Dies

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Arthur Neukom Nehf, former major league pitching star, died in his home Sunday night of cancer at the age of 68.

Nehf was a mainstay of the pitching staff of the New York Giants when they won four straight National League pennants, 1921-24. He also pitched for the Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati Reds and Boston Braves.

Pair Of Reserves Heighten Eagles NFL Title Hopes

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Coach Buck Shaw said Monday that the showing of second-string quarterback Sonny Jurgensen and reserve back Tim Brown has heightened the Philadelphia Eagles' hopes of beating Green Bay for the National Football League championship.

The two were standouts Sunday as the Eagles closed their regular season with a 38-28 victory over Washington. Jurgensen, only rarely used in relief of Norm Van Brocklin, plated the entire second half. He completed 8 of 11 passes for 196 yards, throwing for two touchdowns, and ably led the Eagles.

Brown, described by Shaw as "the best maneuvering back" the Eagles have, now is assured of plenty of action in the title game here Dec. 26. He caught five passes for 121 yards and scored an end sweep.

The word around the NFL has been to stop Van Brocklin and you stop the Eagles. Shaw said that with knowledge of Jurgensen's ability—displayed also the previous week against the Pittsburgh Steelers — the Eagles can enter the game with confidence that an injury to the Dutchman won't halt their attack.

"I think highly of Jurgensen and I think the team does," said Shaw. "His performances bore out what we thought he could do and should make everyone forget the trouble he had in pre-season exhibitions."

In his years with the Eagles the former Duke ace has been known as the man who holds the ball for field goal and point after touchdown attempts.

Brown, previously used mainly on kickoff returns, has been seeing action along with rookie Ted Dean since the injury that sidelined Clarence Peaks, the Eagles' best runner and backfield blocker.

Dean still is expected to start with Billy Barnes, Tommy McDonald and Van Brocklin in the Eagle backfield.

Nazareth School Board Seeks Answer

IT MAY BE a bit naive or old fashioned to think that school boards are elected to handle school affairs not to see that the boys on its school football team make all-star teams.

The Nazareth School Board voted Thursday night to find out why Blue Eagle halfback Jeff Marsh was not picked on the Harrisburg Patriot's Big 33 Team. Marsh was selected for both Associated Press and United Press International All-State team.

One of the stronger rumors on the football circuit is that Maryland's Tom Nugent will be named head coach of either the Washington Redskins or Philadelphia Eagles.

Redskins owner George Preston Marshall fired Mike Nixon shortly before the Skins dropped their finale to Philadelphia 38-28. Buck Shaw, the Eagle's coach says he will retire after the championship game.

If Nugent does leave Maryland, one of the strongest contenders for his job will probably be Bob Ward, the Terps All-America guard in 1950, who is an Oklahoma assistant coach now.

TD Club Had Good Night Despite Bednarik

The Pocono Touchdown Club had a fairly successful "Night of Football," at the Elks Club Monday, despite the absences of the Philadelphia Eagles Chuck Bednarik.

Bednarik decided the snow was to deep to get to the Poconos, which is an acceptable excuse. It would have been much more acceptable if Bednarik had told the club he was not coming.

In the old days, BEC, (Before Eastern Championship) the Eagles unloaded publicity on every newspaper that had a mailbox.

But a request for a picture of Bednarik and a brief story on the Penn graduate has gone unanswered by the Eagles publicity office for two weeks.

East Stroudsburg State College's football team finished in the top 30 in three team categories of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics and the Warriors Bob Gross was 23 in the country in punting with a 39.5 average on 11 kicks.

Gross and his teammate Bill Lewis each got off a 65 yard kick this year. Gross' was against Millersville in the opener and Lewis' effort game against Bloomsburg.

Warriors Were Eighth In Rush Defense

East Stroudsburg was eighth in the nation in team rushing defense, allowing nine opponents an average of 76.7 yards a game. West Chester was first with a 41.0 mark.

The Warriors were 25 in total defense and 29 in team rushing offense. The Warriors averaged 230 yards a game on the ground.

Some 26,900 people saw East Stroudsburg play this year including 7,400 for the West Chester game.

Ten Warriors were responsible for individual 1960 season football records. Frank Lupin gained the most yards in one game, 135 against Cheyney, while Bill Race's 20 carries against Millersville and Cortland were also a team high.

Lewis Led East Stroudsburg Passers

Bill Lewis attempted the most passes 21 and completed the most 11 against West Chester and Joe Heverin caught six of them in that game.

The longest touchdown pass was a 45 yard toss from Lewis to Toby Barkamn. The longest run from scrimmage was credited to Henry Mowery, 58-yards against Kutztown and Don Schleicher's 57-yard punt return against Cheyney was another season high.

Mowery returned the opening kickoff in the Mansfield game 77 yards, a return high.

Shaw, Lombardi To Coach Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Green Bay Packers' Vince Lombardi has been named head coach of the Western Conference squad for the Pro Bowl game at the Coliseum Jan. 15.

Buck Shaw of the Philadelphia Eagles will coach the East.

Paul J. Schissler, Pro Bowl managing director, announced Lombardi's appointment following the Packers' 35-21 win over the Los Angeles Rams Saturday. The win put them on top of the Western Division with an 8-4 record.

Girl, 4, Chases Santa Down Flue

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Kathy Montanaro, 4, "saw" Santa Claus. So, like Alice in Wonderland, she chased him down a hole.

The trouble was that the hole, a heating flue, was real. Kathy became stuck, nine feet down, and it took a squad of firemen to get her out.

Kathy was in a second floor bedroom of her home Saturday when she pushed a covering from a brick heating flue, 15-by-18 inches.

"I was looking for Santa Claus," she said later. "I think I saw the top of his hat. So I went after him."

The firemen carefully broke away bricks above Kathy's head, then lifted her through the gap they had made.

Kathy, though covered with soot, was none the worse for her adventure. She was only sorry that Santa, like Alice's rabbit, was so elusive.

The Eichmann trial is set for next March.

By FRANCIS DRAKE

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1960

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — This day will respond more to conservative tendencies and measures than all-out action in activities. It will be a relief, perhaps, to be able to take things calmly and be able to THINK.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Be concerned with projects and propositions of a general nature rather than spend most time with purely personal issues. Familiar matters, your occupation interests and household duties can achieve.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Caution should be maintained in all important propositions, especially if contracts, promises, bids and estimates are involved. If you think before acting or speaking all should go well.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Mild influences to start with but they become stronger and better and after Sundown, you have auspicious vibrations for private and business matters. Be patient, plan wisely and thus save time.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Some friendly influences linger since yesterday. Much will depend upon you, however, and the schedule you plan and put into practice. Heed wise suggestions, make use of available opportunities.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) —Caution and reasonable desires should take care of day's advantages and possible restraints. Day's interests can be helped by study, examination and analysis of duties, etc.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—A sensible distribution of tasks, where they should be attended to, and advice to those allotted to handle them will help whole day's accomplishment and returns. Don't worry, just carry on.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Discretion, patience, understanding are requisites today. Don't fear work, difficult propositions. Take them as part of civilized living; try to resolve them, the reward will be pleasant.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — You may have to supply added initiative and enthusiasm today so be prepared and be cheerful. Serenity always a help in accomplishing anything. Also avoid becoming overtired or too anxious.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Saturn going to an auspicious position after Sundown. Plan and work today but not to overture, get things set for a more strenous day of activity tomorrow. Important matters first.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Listen to dictates of your experience and to advice of those qualified to give it. In weighty propositions, where several lines of procedure can be used. You want the best, of course.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) —Mildly favorable vibrations since yesterday's benefic Neptune aspect. Don't plan an extensive program but do aim to get today's needs covered. You can achieve all along the line.

YOU BORN TODAY: Sincere, likeable, industrious, versatile but can be obstinate. You have many attributes that should be developed and used to further your and your family's interests. Study your inner self, recognize where you need changes, betterment and make these improvements. Also curb tendencies that could be detrimental to your happiness and success. Smile often, don't worry needlessly and keep health fit by being calm and reasonable. You can advance in a science, in an artistic profession or as a surgeon, dentist; make a skilled mechanic.
